Mrs. R. B. Duffin and Mrs. R. A. Patterson Conveners — Gay Decorations

The ceiling and windows and bazaar tables were gaily decorated with streamers and fringe in rainbow tints.

Noble Grand Sis. Alice Macklin and Vice-Grand Sis. Nora Wannamaker received the guests, while P.D.D.P. Sis. Gena Spy added welcome at the treasurer's table.

New Telephone Numbers By Next Spring

Stirling telephone users will get new telephone numbers early next spring.

G. W. Proctor, Bell Telephone manager for this region, announced this week that the company will introduce two-letter five-figure telephone numbers here during the spring.

of 1960. Two-letter five-figure telephone numbers consist of an exchange name, an exchange numeral and four figures, the manager explained, with EXeter 5 chosen as the exchange name and numeral for Stirling.

"Present telephone numbers," Mr. Proctor pointed out, "will be incorporated in the new numbers. Numbers now composed of four figures will simply take on the prefix Exeter 5, while those made up of three figures will be preceded by Exeter 5-3. The number 1234, for example, would become EXeter 5-1234, while a three-numeral number such as 123 would become EXeter 5-3123," he explained.

Adoption of the two-letter five-figure telephone numbers here will fit Stirling into the uniform numbering system which is rapidly coming into use throughout Canada and the United States.

The uniform numbering system is part of a continent-wide plan which dials carry letters as well as numbers — this kind of dial plate is essential under the two-five numbering systems.

"If your dial plate is still without letters, just return the card mailed to you this week."

Mr. Proctor reminded business people to keep the coming number change in mind when ordering new supplies of stationery or other articles bearing their telephone number.

Telephone users were also urged to make certain that their telephone

(3) The Attraction of Tourists
(4) The Education of Our Young People.

(5) The Storage of County Records. The second part of the brief deals with the advantages of the registry office as a museum. Its structural soundness, central location, fireproof character, historic nature, and ease of converting it for museum purposes, are all important points.

The brief then deals with the qualifications of the County Historical Society (which, though only in its third year, has enthusiastic supporters throughout the county), and the development and financing of the proposed museum.

Copies of the submission have been mailed to all members of Hastings County Council, and a formal presentation will be made at the December session of Council.

Hastings County Museum Proposed

Plans for a proposed Hastings County museum were approved recently by the Hastings County Historical Society. The proposal now will be submitted to County Council.

Site of the suggested museum would be the County Registry Office at Belleville. This one story brick building is scheduled to be demolished for a parking lot following the completion of the new County Building.

The Historical Society's brief to County Council is in five main sections.

(1) The Preservation of Our Historic Past. "We owe it to past and future generations to see that as much as possible of our historic heritage is preserved. Many people have indicated a willingness to donate or loan articles of local historical importance to a museum. This is especially important in Hastings County, since it is one of Ontario's original counties."

(2) The Satisfaction of a Growing Interest in Our History. This is shown in the success of the Historical Society's displays at the Belleville Fair. Almost 3,000 persons stopped to view the 1959 display. This interest is also shown in the favourable reception of

Mt. Pleasant, Rawdon, United Church Eighty-eighth Anniversary

by Mrs. Percy MacMullen

On Sunday, November 1st, a large group of worshippers gathered at Mount Pleasant United Church for the Eighty-Eighth Anniversary since the church was erected by the pioneers in 1871.

There were old and new friends and many former church members in attendance. The edifice was filled to capacity with an overflow audience in the basement. A public address system loaned by Mr. Maurice Bell carried the message to all.

Baskets of chrysanthemums and potted plants were used for decoration and some were Memorial flowers.

The guest speaker was the Rev. Elgin Joblin, M.A., B.D., Toronto, Assistant Secretary of The Home Mission Board of the United Church of Canada. In 1928 the Official Board of Rawdon Circuit, convening in Mount Pleasant United Church recommended Mr. Joblin as a candidate for the ministry, when his father, the Rev. Fred G. Joblin, Port Perry, was minister of Rawdon Circuit. Mr. Joblin had fond memories of his early training in the church and he reminisced of by-gone days and also brought news of his father, before he gave his message, based on the theme, "A Personal Matter". He gave a descriptive accounting of the work of the church across Canada and said everywhere there seems to be insecurity among both old and young people. He referred to the Psalmist who said, "He shall have dominion also from sea to sea and from the river unto the ends of the earth" and again "The word of God was made flesh and dwelt among us".

There is a tremendous claim throughout both the Old and the New Testaments that God did love the world. The speaker gave several illustrations to prove that God came in person to redeem the people. He quoted that old familiar hymn, "My Father is Rich in Houses and Lands", and stressed the rapture and contentment of being "a child of the King".

He gave a graphic picture of his recent visit to Norway House Residential School in Manitoba, where he gave messages in each of the five classrooms and conducted a service in "The James Evans Memorial Church". In closing he stressed that relationship with Christ must be a personal matter and young people everywhere need to make definite decisions and then conform to "His Way of Life".

The pastor, Rev. W. G. Fletcher, B.A., conducted the service.

The opening prelude was "Blest Be the Tie That Binds", with Mrs. Kenneth Weaver as organist and Mrs. Mac Sharp, pianist.

Mrs. Marguerite McMullen contributed a vocal selection, "Spirit of God", by Neidlinger.

The full choir, under the direction of Mrs. Carleton Potts sang, "O Jesus, I Have Promised," with Mrs. Garth Joslin, taking the solo part.

The offering was gathered by Messrs. Bert Shape, Tony Jonkman, Allen Fletcher and Jim Johnson.

The service closed with "God's Own Hand Shall Guide Thee to Heaven's Eternal Day", and the postlude was "Awakening Chorus", by Gabriel.

Evening Service

There was a large attendance at the evening service which opened with a prelude by "Dykes" and a hymn of praise.

The Teen-Age Ensemble sang "The Stranger of Galilee" and the full choir rendered, "He's Calling You".

Mr. Roger Smith assisted with the offering and the offertory was, "My Jesus, I Love Thee". Rev. W. G. Fletcher conducted the service.

Rev. Elgie Joblin based his message on "Servants of Christ". He gave vivid illustrations of the various ways that Jesus served during his ministry on earth and said in today's world there are also many opportunities for Christian people to be concerned.

The Board of Home Missions is greatly in need of personal service, money, men and women and each individual should not be careless in his support of the church and its work.

He gave a vivid picture of the Misionary Work carried on at "Ports of Entry", where folks are welcomed to Canada and later they find a place in "The Churches of All Nations" across the continent.

He then pictured a trip on the Thomas Crosby Mission Board along the Pacific Coast. From there, the group travelled with the speaker to the prairie provinces and were given first hand information re the work carried on at Norway House and many other Indian Centres. All across Canada new churches are being built and many types of work are progressing.

Mr. Joblin gave a glowing account of various projects undertaken by Young People's Groups which had provided money to purchase a movie projector for an Indian Church group in the West and a set of carpentry tools and equipment for Bella Bella. He paid tribute to the Young Peoples of rural churches and urged that they give some thought to dedicating their lives to be "Servants of Christ", either as ministers, nurses or community workers, etc. Many volunteers are needed and he urged the young people of Mount Pleasant to give this subject serious thought. The Anniversary closed on the theme "Rise Up to serve the King of Kings".

Eighth Annual Farm Union Convention

The eighth annual Farm Union Convention, held in Memorial Hall, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, October 26th to 28th, proved to be one of the most serious Farm Union Conventions to date. Discussions on resolutions were widespread and thorough with maximum delegate participation. The meeting resolved appreciation of the Federal Government establishing the principal of deficiency support price system and asked for inclusion of more farm products with cost of production support levels. It expressed disappointment and censure of the Officials of the Ontario Hog Marketing Board, the Ontario Poultry Producers and Federation of Agriculture in their betrayal of the family sized farm, through their denunciation of a deficiency price support system.

The meeting, although supporting the principal of Producer controlled compulsory marketing boards, labelled the Hog Marketing Board selling agency as being ineffective and inefficient and called for the elimination of the present hog marketing board. An early plebiscite will be sought.

Special speakers included Mr. A. H. Turner, of the Prices Stabilization Board, Mr. Rudy Usiek, President Manitoba Farmers' Union and Mrs. Beatrice Trew, Women's President, Saskatchewan's Farmers' Union.

President Gordon L. Hill listed a number of Ontario Farm Union achievements accomplished during the past year, chief of which was the Federal Government legislation for increased compensation to farmers who had livestock destroyed as a result of rabies. A voluntary requisition method of collection of dues was also granted by the Provincial Government. The President reminded the members that as Federal Government's deficiency support program, although not up to Union recommendations was solely a Farm Union policy and achievement.

Officers elected were as follows:

Hon. Presidents, Mrs. Geo. Prosser, Nestleton, Mr. George Sutherland, Chatsworth, and A. V. Cormack, Parry Sound; President, Gordon L. Hill, of Vernon; 1st Vice-Pres. Edwin Morden, Riverview; 2nd Vice-Pres. J. Frank Gamble, Chatsworth; Women's Pres., Mrs. H. Hopkins, Fenelon Falls; Women's Vice Pres., Mrs. A. Parker, Roseneath; Jr. Pres., Kenneth Marsett, Picton.

Horticultural Society Hints

Of all the flowering plants which can be grown with speed and ease in any winter window garden, few can surpass the paper-white Narcissus and the showy yellow form, known as Grand Soleil d'Or. Both are delightfully fragrant. Start bulbs at 10-day intervals to enjoy flowers over a long period during the winter. Usually, they bloom in 3 to 6 weeks when grown in pebbles, sphagnum, moss or vermiculite. I prefer pebbles, because they keep the roots of the bulbs well-anchored.

Five, seven or more set closely in a low bowl will produce stately stems of bloom 15 to 18 inches or more in height. If grown in a cool room, the flowers will last ten days, or 2 weeks, especially if kept out of direct sunlight, once the buds have opened. In a warm, dry atmosphere the foliage becomes floppy and bloom is short-lived.

The bulbs can be started in ordinary room temperatures by keeping them away from direct light until roots have formed. Containers should be kept filled with water to a depth of one-half to two-thirds.

Discard the spent bulbs of paper whites as they will not produce flowers outside and are not winter hardy.

OF MANY THINGS

(By Ambrose Hines)

RIGHT TURN, CCF

Some years ago a leading CCF'er wrote a book called "Left Turn, Canada!". It was a well-written if poorly reasoned book, but Canada wasn't paying much attention. Even the CCF party, instead of turning left, began to veer a shade or two to the right. It doesn't seem more than a couple of years ago that they ditched the old Regina Manifesto.

It was only yesterday that they began to state openly that nationalization, one of their pet theories, must also be ditched except when drastic measures are called for.

In other words, the order of the day for the CCF and their friends has been a decided, "Right Turn".

This is all too the good. Nationalization, like most socialist schemes, won't work well either in agriculture or industry. Farmers manage their farms as well as they can; industrialists run their industries to the best of their ability. Both are motivated by a desire for profit and eagerness to serve. Neither farmers nor industrialists are angels, perhaps, but one will get you ten that they are as good as or better than politicians and bureaucrats, morally and intellectually, on any scale with which you care to weigh them.

Indeed, there is quite a body of opinion holding that political socialism is immoral. This does not imply that individual followers of a political socialist party are personally immoral, but that they have been misled into attempting to further a fine cause by shady methods.

To share with one's neighbour, for example, is a fine and highly moral idea. It loses a good deal of its moral tone, however, if one's notion of sharing with one's neighbour involves stealing those of his possessions which are in excess of one's own. Socialism, as a political force, makes no bones about its intention of doing that very thing!

Political socialists, it seems to me, can also be charged with preaching hatred. They seem determined to set class against class.

The new party, if it is to succeed, ought to appeal to higher motives. Otherwise, it will fail to get a large following of common-sense Canadians who simply want a country that is well and honestly governed. Canadians are not likely to elect many candidates on a platform that involves hatred, seizure of property, or anything that goes against the moral grain.

THE BIBLE TODAY

(By Rev. C. R. Rudd)

Africa's population reached 220,000,000 in 1956 and is increasing at the rate of 1.8 per cent or by about 3,960,000 persons each year, according to the recently-published United Nations Demographic year book.

Bible Society activity to provide Scriptures for this new multitude of people includes revision of the New Testament in four African languages and two portions in new languages. An increase in Scripture distribution is reported in most sections of this great continent: 5500 more Arabic in North Africa; 1000 in French West and Equatorial Africa; 28,000 in Egypt. Shortages cut supplies in the Congo and Angola, though 128,306 Scriptures in thirty-two African and five European languages were circulated. In West Africa translation work is progressing in Tiv, Margi, Isoko, (Igabo), Mende and Temne. A Bible House distribution centre is to be built in Salisbury, the capital city of the Rhodesias. Portions in Amharic are now being printed in Addis-Ababa.

Suggested Bible Readings:

Sunday — Acts 5: 17-42
Monday — Hebrews 1: 1-14
Tuesday — Hebrews 12: 1-17
Wednesday — James 5: 1-19
Thursday — Psalms 138: 1-8
Friday — Psalms 139: 1-18
Saturday — Acts 6: 1-15

THE FOOD BASKET

TRY KABOBS FOR A QUICK MAIN COURSE

Kabob, kebab, kabob or bakkab — no matter how you mix up the letters, they still add up to a delectable combination of juicy bites of meat and vegetables (or fruit) broiled together on a skewer. Popular in Near Eastern countries for centuries, this quick method of cooking meat has really just begun to catch on with Canadians.

Those of you who have discovered the convenience of kabobs, probably have cooked them on the outdoor grill in the summertime. You will find that that broiler of your stove does a good job of cooking kabobs for fall and winter meals. The metal skewers you will require (between 6 and 8 inches long) are available for a few pennies apiece at hardware stores.

The beauty of kabob cookery is that it's so quick you can leave the actual cooking until only minutes before mealtime. Another attraction is the colourful, almost limitless combinations of meats, vegetables and fruits which can be used together. As for serving, kabobs can come to the table poised on a bed of fluffy rice, nestled in a noodle ring, or pushed directly off the skewers into hot dog rolls for easy, informal eating.

Here is a recipe for Lamb Kabobs as made in Canada's Kitchen.

LAMB KABOBS

1 pound boneless lamb
2 tablespoons salad oil
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 tablespoon mustard
1 teaspoon salt
1 clove garlic, minced
1 teaspoon curry powder
3 medium tomatoes, quartered
2 medium onions, thickly sliced or 12 pickled onions
12 medium mushroom caps
Cut lamb in 1-inch cubes. Let stand 1 hour in marinade of oil, vinegar and seasonings.

Make kabobs by threading alternate pieces of lamb, mushrooms, tomatoes and onions onto 6 metal skewers. Brush with oil and sprinkle with salt and pepper.

Broil kabobs in preheated broiler 3 inches from heating unit, 5 to 7 minutes each side. (Makes 6 kabobs).

Athletes Foot

Not Limited To Athletes

Athlete's foot is certainly not confined to any one group of people, but is a widespread skin infection occurring throughout the world, particularly in the hot and in the temperate regions, according to an article in the current issue of Health magazine, official publication of the Health League of Canada.

The article, which was written by Drs. Gibson E. Craig and F. Blank, points out that epidermophytosis, the medical name for athlete's foot, is not even restricted to the feet, but may affect any part of the smooth skin.

Fungi thrives best in warm and moist environment. It is no surprise, then that athlete's foot most often starts between the fourth and fifth toe where moisture and heat produce softening and macerating of the skin. These conditions not only create an ideal climate for the growth of the fungi but also allow the entrance of bacteria.

The early symptoms of athlete's foot are only burning and itching. People who have normally cool feet can develop athlete's foot in a few days by wearing socks and shoes which produce sweating.

During the past two decades, drugs have been discovered for the successful treatment of the worst bacterial infections of man. Unfortunately, little progress has been made in finding specific remedies for the fungus infections.

1. The feet should be washed frequently and dried with care, particularly between the toes.

2. Dusting powder used after the bath will help to prevent maceration.

3. Loose or open weave shoes are valuable for those who perspire heavily or are on their feet for long periods, especially during the hot weather.

It is not wise to use strong remedies on feet which are suspected of being infected by fungi. Most serious cases are produced by over treatment, especially if there is a secondary infection due to bacteria.

The article concludes by stating that medical advice will often reduce treatment time and suffering.

decorative medium as well as its necessity for comfortable living.

The advertising in support of National Home Week by means of newspapers, radio and television on the part of the manufacturers and suppliers of electrical components, the local Utilities Commissions and Ontario Hydro was outstanding. Thirteen large daily newspapers carried special sections or supplements devoted to housing and electric wiring and heating. Outstanding radio coverage was given by stations in Ottawa, North Bay, Brantford and Hamilton. There is little doubt but that this promotional impact on the public will result in benefit to both the building and electrical industries.

Thrift May Cost A Life

For the sake of a few pennies, a baby lost his life — Thus begins the tragic tale told fifteen times over so far in Canada this year. Here's how it goes: The dry-cleaning is delivered to the house. It is protected by dust-proof thin plastic. The mother, taking the clothes out of their plastic covering, decides this material is too useful to throw away. Why not use it to protect baby's mattress? Why bother to buy a special heavy-gauge mattress cover when this will do just as well?

And so, a tiny baby rolls over one night, kicks aside a sheet, presses his face against the clinging fabric and dies.

It's a horrible story, isn't it? So are the stories of children who are seriously burned through their parents' careless storage of matches, or who are poisoned by drinking turpentine left in a soft drink bottle.

These stories all have something in common. They need never have happened.

The answer for matches, turpentine, and thin plastic is the same — Keep them away from children!

Here are the simple facts about this material. Ultrathin plastic film, an excellent protector of clothing because it is airtight, can be deadly for this same reason if used as a make-shift covering in baby's crib or playpen. Fifteen mothers have found this to their sorrow. They could have bought special, safe mattress covers made of heavy-gauge plastic, at a very low cost.

No amount of penny-saving could replace their loss, says the Ontario Safety League.

A pessimist is a sentimental optimist who expected too much.

Vacuum Cleaner

As Polio Aid

Doctors at Ham Green Hospital P.M., near Bristol, England, have successfully adapted a lightweight British vacuum cleaner as a breathing aid for poliomyelitis patients, according to information received by the Health League of Canada.

In doing so, they have made it possible for patients hitherto confined to a small radius near their beds in the wards, to move freely in wheel chairs, to make excursions near the hospital, and to take journeys by train or other transport.

The doctors have adapted the cleaners to convey air from them to patients' mouths, a small plastic mouthpiece being held in the mouth. This is unobtrusive, and the patient is easily able to control the flow of air through this mouthpiece.

In its ordinary form, the apparatus is familiar to hundreds of thousands of housewives as a small hand cleaner, but the doctors saw it as a medical instrument: weighing only five pounds with a high delivery of air at a satisfactory pressure, it was found to be suitable as the basis of the portable breathing aid required.

The mouthpiece is held in the patient's teeth. The machine is switched on, and the lungs are inflated as required. Biting the mouthpiece stops the air supply and permits exhalation.

The simple breathing movements are easily mastered by the patient. Breathing by this method can go on for long periods, or the apparatus can be used for intermittent short periods as needed. The machine is battery-driven.

Talking is possible through the use of this machine, and the expansion of the lungs is extremely good. Wheel chairs have been adapted to carry the apparatus, or it may be transported by hand. Short and long journeys are undertaken which were never visualized, and in addition, patient's morale is substantially improved.

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

HOW FARMERS ARE GETTING STARTED IN BEEF CATTLE

Are cattle prices too high to start a breeding herd now?

Some Ontario feeders are beginning to think about the high price tag on Western stock and have started to grow their own. Apparently their reasoning is if you wait until you can buy cattle lower, the market will probably still be lower when you have cattle to sell. If you get in when prices are high, they might still be high when you sell your first crop of calves.

O.A.C. Livestock Researcher Tom Burgess thinks an old quotation best answers the question: "When do I start a breeding herd?" He says: "This year to the man who will have available feed supplies beginning this summer and fall; Next year to the man whose pastures and meadows won't be ready until then; Now to the man who has hay and straw in his barns and pastures already established; and Never to the man who would have no feed for his breeding herd without changing a livestock program which has been satisfactory."

There are several ways farmers are getting started into beef herds. Each has its advantages and drawbacks.

You can sometimes get a quick start and early returns if you purchase "pairs" or cows with young calves. In some years, dry spots and feed shortages develop in the West and a few of the ranchers are compelled to sell their breeding stock. If you are lucky, you might run into a dispersal sale where you can pick up cows with calves at foot.

It has been possible in early Fall to buy rather thin but thrifty cows of good breeding but not too much age, with good calves and mostly bred again at pretty attractive prices. Similar buys are sometimes possible locally for the man who has reserve pasture or feed enough to take them on.

Such a start gives a calf to feed or sell the first Fall and a producing cow for the following year. Or as one buyer puts it, he has three cattle instead of one at the end of the first year's ownership.

This plan of buying mature cows (not too old) with a heifer calf at foot and rebred to a good bull is sometimes a fairly cheap way to get a start. Such a combination often sells for little more at an auction than the same cow alone if she were fat or than a well-fitted yearling heifer.

Other systems of starting?

Some farmers buy young bred cows during late winter at a time when over-stocked owners run short of feed. Still others prefer to make a slower start with a few heifer calves or yearling heifers, or even a single cow or heifer — and grow into the business. Good commercial and purebred herds in Ontario have their start with a single purebred 4-H beef heifer.

In general, a faster start and quicker returns can be had from investment in "pairs" or bred cows and heifers. But you need more money and there are health hazards.

On the other hand, starting with heifer calves is a slow business and means a long wait for any return. Yearling heifers usually cost more per head than heifer calves and save a year's wait as compared with them. But if you start in a small way and grow into a business, usually there's less financial and health risk than with a herd of new-bought cows.

Burgess suggests one way you can speed up heifer returns: Buy a couple of carloads and feed out most of them. Keep a dozen or so of the best heifers for the start of a breeding herd. You'll be able to get some returns when you sell the poorer heifers as beef. It will cut the long dry spell when no money is coming in."

The Ontario Department of Agriculture Researcher cautions: "Most farmers are going to pick a combination of methods when they get in a herd. And before they buy anything, it's best if they have a good long look at their feed supply. Finally, ask yourself if you can grow feeders on your land any cheaper than you can buy them."

SOME WAYS TO KEEP TRACTOR COSTS DOWN

There's little most farmers can do about cutting down fixed tractor costs like cost of housing, depreciation, taxes and insurance. But you can work at reducing operating costs and repairs this Fall. Maybe these ideas from the Ontario Department of Agriculture will help.

Take fuel costs, for instance. It's your biggest single operating expense. It's not enough that the rings and bearings are in good shape. A periodic tune-up in which you and your dealer goes over the spark plugs, ignition points, carburetor and valve adjustments is necessary.

When you start your tractor in cold weather, do you have to use the choke until the engine is warmed up? Then your carburetor is probably wasting fuel.

You can get an over-rich fuel too if your air cleaner is dirty. It may become so clogged that not enough air can pass through it.

Cut rolling resistance in tires by keeping your tires properly inflated. If they are too soft, it's like operating a tractor uphill. Also, tire sidewalls may buckle and break down the cord.

Wheel weights for heavy drawbar loads like plowing help prevent slippage. Wheel slip must be about 15 per cent before you can readily see it and up to this slip per cent helps increase drawbar pull. Above 15 percent (wheels slip during heavy pull) your tractor probably needs wheel weights.

Other Fall ideas to keep in mind are:

Don't overload. If your tractor lugs down under a heavy load, better use a lower gear or reduce the load. Lugging increases fuel use and wear.

Some hydraulic systems, clutch fan belts, and front wheel bearing need adjustment or lubrication only once or twice a year. But don't let this be an excuse for never servicing these items.

When a part breaks, replace it at once. Operation without the needed repair often results in breakdown of other parts.

KEEP FARM FIRES FROM STARTING

One out of three farm fires starts from defects in heating and cooking systems, according to Farm Management Specialists.

With the approach of cold weather, many fires will be lit in farm homes in heating systems that have not been checked for some time. In order to help cut down on the number of possible farm fires in Ontario, H. E. Wright, Farm Safety Specialist of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, offers the following advice:

(1) Inspect flues, chimneys, spark arrestors and cooking equipment to make sure they are in good condition.

(2) Check for inadequate, defective, and misused electrical wiring systems and replace them where needed.

(3) Check fuses and all electrical equipment to make sure they are of the proper type and in good condition.

(4) Check the storage of fuels and other inflammable material to make sure that it is adequately and suitably protected. See that the storage area is neat and located in a safe area with all fire hazards removed.

(5) Inspect lightning rods to make sure they are grounded, and securely connected.

(6) See that there is some home fire-fighting equipment available and make sure that it is in a condition and location where it can be instantly used.

(7) Never spray or pour kerosene (coal oil) on a burning fire. This is an extremely dangerous practice.

IT PAYS TO STORE FARM MACHINERY

You can save up to 50 per cent of the life of a disc or harrow and ninety per cent of the useable life of a combine with winter storage," says Jim Scott, Ontario Department of Agriculture Researcher at the O.A.C.

When asked if a dirt floor storage shed was enough, Scott agreed that it was — "Providing that you remember moisture condenses in such a non-insulated building when the temperature goes up. This leads to more rusting and rapid breakdown if the machine is not properly stored."

Here's how Scott suggests storing it:

Clean and inspect each machine; remove all canvases and V-belts and store them in a dry place; paint wood sections and smear metal parts with grease or oil to prevent rotting and rusting; Keep harmful moisture out of rubber-tired wheels to cut down cracking and rotting.

Used motor oil is not recommended for rust prevention. The reason: It's polluted with acids. It can cause severe corrosion. One of the modern rust inhibitors would be much better.

If there just isn't room for all your machinery inside, try one of these new rust preventatives. It will certainly cut down rust losses on machines that must be left outside. In cases where this has been done, no breakdown was seen, even though the machines were covered with ice and snow.

HOW SHOULD FERTILIZER BE APPLIED TO CORN?

Just reported experiments by the Ontario Department of Agriculture throw a question mark on the idea that corn starter fertilizer is best utilized when it's placed about two inches below, and 2 to 3 inches to the side of the seed.

One of the Department's agricultural engineers, P. H. Southwell, compared corn yields from broadcasted fertilizer, fertilizer applied with a special deep-placement machine, and fertilizer applied with a split-boot planter for 4 years. A total of 9 treatments with 800 pounds of 10-10-10 were grown at 3 sites in those years. Results showed that "use of the split-boot planter gave higher yields than use of the deep-placement machine."

Southwell says that "there appears to be a relationship between yields of corn and the closeness of the fertilizer to the seed. However, there is a risk of seed burning, especially in dry years, if heavy rates are applied too close to the soil. It is also possible that the superiority of the split-boot planter was not entirely due to fertilizer position but also due to some other differences in planting between the two machines."

He adds: "Results obtained in 1958 confirmed that the use of the split-boot planter not only gave the highest yields but also that this superiority over the deep-placement machine was apparently due to fertilizer position and not to any differences in seed planting." An interesting fact that showed up was that until the end of July in 1958, the soil moisture along the plant rows was higher on those plots which had been planted with the split-boot machine than on the deep-planting plots.

Southwell travelled only two miles an hour when planting. This allowed him to place the starter fertilizer within an inch of but not in contact with the seed.

The big drawback to split-boot planters is their lack of precision when travelling at high speeds over rough ground. Burning (seedling dehydration) often resulted when too much starter fertilizer was in contact with the seed.

Southwell concludes that in areas of Central Ontario or elsewhere with similar soil and climate:

The conventional split-boot planter gives richer yields than the deep-planting machine.

There is a risk of seed "burning" with a split-boot, especially in a dry year when applying 10-10-10 fertilizers at the rate of 800 pounds per acre.

Deep placement of fertilizer has no advantage over broadcast application.

In a dry year or in highly fertile soil, fertilizer placement doesn't influence yield.

He Remodelled His Barn -- Saved Chore Time

Ontario Department of Agriculture Economists say that "with farm wages at 75c per hour, a dairy farmer can afford to spend $45 on improvements for every minute per day he can save in chore time." That might sound a bit high but they add that labour makes up 26 per cent of the cost of producing milk and that the average dairyman spends about 140 hours per year caring for each cow in his herd.

Ever figure out how much time you spend with cows? Some farmers complete their chores with 80 hours of man-time per cow; others need up to 250 hours per cow per year.

The economists studied one dairyman who after remodeling his original stable found he was saving 433 hours of chore-time in a year. Also, he found that he saved 267.3 miles of walking in that year.

The dairyman had converted two rows of stanchions, a long narrow heifer pen, and 3 scattered calf pens to a heifer loafing area, loose housing for his cows, and centralized pens.

He built a home-made milking parlor in the barn right next to the milk house, built straw chutes into all three pens from the barn above, and fed silage and grain from one straight alley which ran by all three pens.

Time saved? The Ontario Department of Agriculture Economists found this farmer saved 277 hours a year in all chores connected with milking. He saved 85 hours feeding hay, 30 hours feeding silage, and 13 hours cleaning manure.

"Time saving in dairy chores is often a matter of saving a few seconds here and a few steps there," says the Economist. "Each item is small but when added together and multiplied by 730 times a year (twice a day, every day) they soon become days per year."

Detailed information is available in Ontario Department of Agriculture Circular 208, "Labour Saving on the Dairy Farm," obtainable from the office of the County Agricultural Representative.

Local Veterans

Appeal For Support

To a veteran, as well as to good Canadian citizens, there is perhaps no more poignant reminder of war's supreme sacrifices than the blood-red Flander's poppy. It is an honourable emblem and through it several of the Legion's important aims are served.

From the time it was first adopted as the symbol of sacrifice after the First World War, the poppy has kindled in Canadians memories of those who gave their lives for our freedom. Each year the contributions of generous citizens to the Legion's Poppy Fund has meant material relief for thousands of needy veterans and their families. The Canadian Legion's annual Poppy Campaign is the only co-ordinated national appeal to the public for funds to alleviate distress among ex-service personnel and their dependents.

All donations are retained by the branch in your community in the form of a Poppy Fund for direct relief purposes and other welfare work.

Each Legion Branch is therefore able to give food, clothing, shelter and actual financial assistance to veterans and their families in extreme circumstances.

River Valley W.I. Pie Social

On Friday evening, October 30th, River Valley School House was nicely decorated with yellow streamers, black cats, witches and lighted Jack o'lanterns when River Valley W.I. sponsored a very successful Pie Social and the door proceeds was almost thirty-five dollars to be applied to the building fund.

Glenn Bush was chairman and Mrs. Ralph Utman, pianist, and the programme opened with a sing song.

Mrs. Ernest Carr extended a hearty welcome on behalf of the Institute. She also read a couple of humorous selections. Two little tots, Fanny Zuidema and Jane Bush each gave a cute selection.

The school children sang several numbers in a variety of groups and most were based on the Hallowe'en theme.

Mrs. George Heasman gave a special story for the children. Piano selections were rendered by Misses Marilyn Conley and Cheryl Utman. Mrs. Percy MacMullen contributed two readings. Mrs. Glenn Brooks gave a vocal solo. Mrs. Jack Bush conducted two fun-provoking games.

Mrs. Glenn Bush, convener of the group in charge, voiced thanks to everyone for their assistance after which she and the assistants served sandwiches, pickles, coffee and a bountiful supply of various kinds of pie.

Laurel Rebekah Lodge No. 211 Observes 39th Birthday Anniversary

Miss Evelyn Bailey, Peterborough, Guest Speaker —
Banquet Greatly Enjoyed

A happy birthday party was spent in the I.O.O.F. Hall on November 10th by Laurel Rebekah Lodge No. 211.

The program was convened by J.P.-N.G. Sister Marion Carter, who asked the members to observe two minutes' silence in remembrance of those who gave their lives in two World Wars.

This was followed by an impressive solo by Sis. Annie Warren, "In Flanders' Fields", accompanied by Sister Marjorie Stapley.

Sis. Ruby Tompkins played the guitar and sang, "When My Blue Moon Turns to Gold Again". Sister Reta Pyear conducted some interesting games.

The dining hall was decorated with rainbow tints and the two centre supports were wrapped in deeper colours like maypoles.

The tables were dainty and colourful with pink and green candles and the beautiful three-tiered birthday cake decorated with the lodge colours and emblems.

At each place was a pretty floral favour of pink and green plastic foam with "39" printed in the gold-tipped disc. These were made by Sisters Joyce and Shirley Richardson.

J.P.N.G. Sis. Marion Carter presided at the head table and honoured those new members who had joined the Lodge during her years as Noble Grand.

Sisters Joyce Clancy and Irene Dafne pinned corsages on all the Past Nobles Grand present. These were the gift of Sister Carter and were made by her sister, Nina Neal.

P.D.P.D. Sis. Evelyn Bailey in her address paid tribute to the charter members and early workers of Laurel Lodge and of the "Friendship" through the years and still evident on the thirty-ninth anniversary.

Sister Lillian Johnston was given the honour of lighting the 39 candles and Brothers Charles Carter and Ray
Sine blew them out.

A delicious lunch of sandwiches, relishes, cookies, tarts and tea was served, followed by birthday cake and punch. A toast was drunk to Laurel Lodge No. 211.

Sis. Mary Hulin, president of the Past Noble Grand's Club, thanked Sis.
Carter, on behalf of the Club for the pretty corsages.

N.G. Sis. Alice Macklin thanked
Sister Carter for the pretty favours on behalf of the officers and members of the Lodge.

Sister Carter paid special tribute to Sisters Bessie Patterson and Kathleen Jones and their helpers who provided the bountiful lunch.

Sister Ruby Tompkins led in community singing, concluding with
"Blest Be The Tie That Binds".

formerly of the Department of Indian Affairs, and Mrs. F. F. Downing, of Athens, formerly a teacher in Indian schools.

Three members of the Tyendinaga Reserve near Deseronto came with Dr. Stone and Mrs. Downing to express their views on the betterment and advancement of the Indian. These gentlemen were Mr. Francis John, Mr. Clayton John and Mr. Clifford Maracle.

Dr. Stone spoke first, stating that Missionaries had helped greatly to civilize the Indians, by building schools and hospitals in the early days. He spoke of the great courage and tenacity of these people, many of them women and hoped that we would not forget them, holding them in the highest esteem and by showing our gratitude by continuing the work they started.

Mrs. Downing spoke next, saying that fourteen Indian schools were cared for by the W.A. Domestic science, farming as well as academic subjects are taught, greatly improving the standard of living.

The three members of the Mohawk Band spoke in turn, telling of the great improvement in education, including means of transportation for pupils going to High School. They stressed the loyalty to the church and hoped the Indians would make more contact with people outside the Reserve, promoting friendly relations.

Listening to these people made everyone realize that there remains a great deal of mission work to be done in Canada. The Church and Department of Indian Affairs are doing tremendous work, but we must help too. Let us remember the W.A. motto, "She hath done what she could."

At the conclusion of the meeting Mrs. J. B. Roberts thanked the ladies of Christ Church for their hospitality. The leaders of Foxboro, graciously served afternoon tea.

Ken Fargey introduced the guest speaker, Rev. W. G. Fletcher, who gave a very interesting talk on Remembrance Day. Elsie Martin thanked the speaker on behalf of the club.

There will be a meeting concerning the year book on November 6th at the home of Miss Marilyn Reid. Anyone interested in playing on the curling team should contact the Agricultural Office as soon as possible.

Appointment Made At Quinte Cattle Breeding Assoc.

DR. PARLIAMENT

Dr. J. M. McLean, Manager of the Quinte District Cattle Breeding Association at Belleville, Ontario, has announced the appointment of a second veterinarian to the staff of their Association.

The continued growth in popularity of artificial insemination in the cattle industry in the Quinte District has resulted in the necessity for this addition to the Association's staff.

Dr. Parliament's responsibilities will be in the fields of semen production, infertility work in the district as well as promotional activities.

Dr. Parliament has been employed by the Waterloo Cattle Breeding Association at Waterloo, Ontario, for the past six years in a similar capacity.

He was born in Ontario County near Cannington in December 1925. His schooling was received in that vicinity and he enlisted in the Royal Canadian Air Force in 1943, remaining in that service till October 1946.

After his release from the Service, he enrolled at the Ontario Veterinary College and graduated from there in 1952. For his first year, he worked in general practice at Lucknow, Ontario. Due to a contact dermatitis which resulted from the handling of sulfa drugs, he was forced to give up this occupation.

In March, 1953, he joined the staff of the Waterloo Cattle Breeding Association, and has been with them until his moving to Belleville on November 1st.

Dr. Parliament is married, his wife being a native of Frontenac County, Helen Summerville. Dr. and Mrs. Parliament have two children, a boy and a girl both eight months old — twins!

Hallowe'en Party

On Saturday a happy Hallowe'en party, sponsored by the executive of Eglington Sunday School, was held at the school with some sixty of all ages in attendance. Large animal balloons provided additional colour to the Hallowe'en decorations.

Messrs. Bruce Stapley and Muriel Stapley were asked to act as judges for the costumes. The various age groups circled the room, with two winners being selected from each group. Then followed the Grand Parade by all the winners. Grand prizes were also awarded to: (1) the youngest child in costume; (2) the girl with the prettiest costume; (3) the boy with the most original costume.

Masks were then removed and all took part in a number of amusing games under the supervision of Paul Bridges, Murray Martin, Mrs. M. Clancy, Mrs. B. Stapley, Misses Joanne Reide, Annamae Clarke and Sondra Chambers. Other attractions were a fish pond and fortune telling booth, with Miss Audrey Stapley and Mrs. Fitchett in charge.

At the close refreshments of sandwiches, doughnuts, cookies, cream candy and fresh apple cider were served. Proceeds from donations, booths, etc., will be sent to UNICEF.

Mrs. John Kane Hostess River Valley Women's Institute

Mrs. John Kane was hostess for the November meeting of River Valley Women's Institute on Thursday with seventeen ladies in attendance.

The central theme of the President's table was a small white cross with red poppies commemorating Armistice Day on November 11th. A period of silence followed and Mrs. Allen McDonell read a message.

Mrs. Vernon Harry read as the motto "That Helping Hand," which is always carrying on work to better the world. The convener read an interesting story "The Value of a Kitchen" and she also conducted a "Safety Quiz."

Mrs. Roy Tucker presided over the business with Mrs. Percy Utman as pianist for the Opening Ode, followed by the Mary Stewart Collect.

Mrs. George Heasman reported the proceeds of the pie social was thirty six dollars. She read thank you notes and items of correspondence. It was decided to donate five dollars to the Blind and five dollars to Mental Health. The delegates expense and the car for transportation to the Area Convention were authorized to be paid.

Mrs. Roy Bush summarized the main items in the last issue of the Countrywoman and read a message from the new president, Mrs. F. J. Beckhoff, of the Netherlands. The Friendship Link Secretary passed around a Christmas card for all to sign and then it will be forwarded to their link Institute at Abbot's Leigh, England.

Mrs. Vernon Harry reported nine members in the Dressmaking Class and the Summary Day will be Tuesday afternoon, December 1st at the Community Hall, Stirling. The President voiced thanks to all who had assisted with the pie social and program.

The Christmas meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Sheldon McIntosh. The roll call will be a fifty cent gift for the kitchen. The April meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. E. C. Hay-Ellis as she exchanged her November meeting with Mrs. Kane.

Mrs. Percy MacMullen gave a twenty minute summary of the highlights of the Trent Valley Area Convention held at Club Canara October 8th. The special speaker was Miss Ethel Chapman, editor of "Home and Country." The Morrow Sisters of River Valley sang and Mrs. Roy Bush gave her report on "Historical Research and Current Events."

The Convention provided a large variety of material which would be useful for any Branch Institute programme. Miss Chapman stressed that Institute members must always remember that they are an educational organization.

The November roll call was a bazaar item not to exceed fifty cents and over ten dollars was realized from the sale of these articles. There were eggs, jelly, chili sauce, aprons, pot holders, homemade candy and a variety of small articles.

The hostess and lunch conveners served light refreshments after which Mrs. Jack Sager voiced thanks for hospitality, programme and lunch.

logists describe them as "insecure-aggressive semi-schizoid". Intolerant adults may use a briefer and ruder description. Yet fathers who look at them honestly will often see an accurate picture of themselves a generation ago.

But if human nature was the same forty years back, the surroundings were not. Father had a bicycle, or one or two horses at the most to help him create a sensation on the roads. Today his son rides the potentially destructive power of 200 horses, and often the rein is loose.

The exuberant, attention-seeking teen-ager of today will be, in the main, the balanced and useful citizen of the future—if he survives! But his damp duck-cut now, coupled with the traffic accident statistics of the insurance industry, serve notice that in this automobile age he is a special problem. A problem that will steadily increase over the next ten years as the surging flood of "war babies" reach driving age, and the proportion of young, insufficiently trained, drivers on our roads increases.

How To Fight Pests On House Plants

When a house plant becomes infested with insects or mites, isolate it from the other plants. That's the first step. Then treat it according to these suggestions from Ontario Department of Agriculture Specialists.

Scale insects — They are flat, oval or circular and covered with a hard smooth scale. Wash smooth-leaved plants with soapy water to remove scales. Add 2 teaspoons of 40 per cent nicotine sulphate to each gallon of wash. Use a cloth or a soft-bristled ley brush.

Aphids — Nicotine sulphate and soap is also effective for the control of aphids. Malathion may also be used, but not in the house. Take the plants outside for treatment.

Two-spotted spider mite — Try liquid rotenone concentrate, aramite or malathion against this tiny mite.

Cyclamen mite — This mite causes curled leaves. African Violets and Cyclamen are the favourite stamping grounds. Malathion is effective. Use the manufacturer's dosages.

Mealybugs — These bugs look just like bits of cotton batting. Control them by applying 50 per cent alcohol with a tiny paint brush to the groups of bugs themselves. Don't get any on the plant. The nicotine sulphate treatment may also be used here.

Whiteflies — Spray the plants with 50 per cent DDT wettable powder (3 tablespoons per gallon of water). Apply at 10-day intervals. Don't use on Kalanchoe.

Springtails — These are little creatures that hop about the soil surface. Use Lindane or Chlorodane Dust on the plant soil for control.

IN SEARCH OF TALENT

Sir Ernest MacMillan leads the orchestra on the CBC Talent Festival, Sundays on the Trans-Canada radio network. Sir Ernest will travel across Canada with the show, seeking promising classical instrumentalists and singers. Hold W.M.S. Sectional Rally At Mount Pleasant United Church

(By Mrs. Percy MacMullen)

Mrs. George Carlisle, vice-president of Belleville West Section of the Women's Missionary Society of Belleville Presbytery, was in charge of the autumn rally held at Mount Pleasant Rawdon United Church on October 14th with two sessions.

A large basket of mums was placed on the communion table by the local W.M.S. group. Several posters depicting the literature department by the Mission Bands were displayed.

Mrs. Milford Wrightman was in charge of the registration with approximately 75 ladies in attendance. Mrs. Frank Jeffs was the treasurer in charge of dinner tickets.

The guests were welcomed at the door by Mrs. Herbert Smith and Mrs. W. G. Fletcher.

Mrs. Burton Sharpe officiated at the console of the organ and gave a musical prelude.

Mrs. Carlisle opened the rally by quoting the following prayer song suggested by African Christians, and followed it with prayer.

Spirit of truth and love,
Life-giving, Holy dove,
Speed forth Thy flight;
Move o'er the water's face,
Bearing the lamp of grace,
And in earth's darkest place,
Let there be light.

The worship services were based on "Mission and World Outreach," the theme of the Rally.

Mrs. Fred Beckett and Mrs. Kenneth Tompkins, of Wellman's W.M.S., conducted the morning worship based on "The Claims of the Mission."

The call centred around "Come let us go into the mountain of the Lord, and He will teach us of His ways and we will walk in His paths." Individuals should be grateful for receiving a kingdom which cannot be shaken.

The group were graciously welcomed by Mrs. H. Smith, president of the W.M.S. and Rev. W. G. Fletcher, pastor of Rawdon Charge.

The roll call was answered with the number of subscribers to "Missionary Monthly" and use of the worship services as prepared by the Dominion Board.

Hold Panel Discussion

Mrs. H. M. Davis, Christian Stewardship Secretary, and Mrs. R. G. Coulter, treasurer of Belleville Presbytery, gave a panel discussion on that phase of the work. There are 79 Auxiliaries in Belleville Presbytery with a membership of two thousand one hundred and eighty-three ladies. The allocation is $27,514.00. If every member could set aside twenty-five cents per week for missions it would be an ideal arrangement. Last year this Presbytery had over one thousand dollars as their contribution to the fund "gifts" for building advance." Mrs. Coulter praised the Mission Bands for their large donations last year. She suggested that local W.A. groups, Couples Clubs and other church organizations be asked to contribute to the missionary objective.

Mrs. Davis said there are 100 retired missionaries and their pensions are such that "You or I Would Not Want to Live on It." She stressed the need of a new allocation for 1960 of $29,562 which is an increase of $2,048. This boils down to the sum of 27 cents per member per week next year, an increase of two cents.

In discussion the ladies outlined a free item entitled "You Should Know" and every auxiliary should have a copy. It deals with legitimate expenses, life memberships, direct donations and in memoriam certificates.

Mrs. Percy MacMullen, literature secretary of Belleville Presbytery welcomed the group to her home church also to the first United Empire Loyalist in Rawdon Township. The first log shack in the wilderness was built near this church in 1784 and the surrounding area was named "Hubble Hill."

Study Africa

The study this year is on Africa and it was the Christian Church which first awakened the desire for freedom in the African's soul. The work of God extends far into the grassland of Africa where there are people sick in body and in spirit. They need Christianity.

The Africans find it very difficult to know what to reject and what to keep in this new life.

Painting, scripture, handicrafts such as pottery and basketry and above all dancing and music, have always been a part of the African's life and thus have deep meaning for him. The African finds that artistic expression is just as much a part of his life as food and drink plays. Music in Africa has been a very important part.

In 1958 the National Council of Churches stressed that all their members study Africa this year. The adult packet is "Africa Disturbed." The teenage packet is based on the book "Paths That Cross," written by Esther Daniels. The Junior Mission Band packet is "New Magic" for children nine to 11 years of age. The primary packet centres around "Bogoli and Old Hippo," as written by J. Shacklett. "Fun and Festival" gives ideas for special programmes, games, proverbs, recipes and music.

African Manhunt

"African Manhunt" by Munroe Scott gives human interest stories of missionaries. The author's home is in Ottawa, but he attended public school in Stirling. This is Munroe's first full-length book but he is well known as a script writer. He stresses that music is the language understood by the Africans. The staff of five visited Africa and searched for fascinating data concerning the influence of the Christian faith and the feature film "I'll Sing, Not Cry," produced by this team, is very worthwhile.

Other books are: "Thy Way in Africa," written by Dr. Geo. Carpenter, general secretary of the International Missionary Council. "This is Africa," by Newell S. Booth, and "Jungles Ahead," by Esther Horsey.

Mrs. MacMullen gave a descriptive account of several other books and she urged every auxiliary to procure a copy of "Missionaries At Work." This is a must and should be used on programmes as it gives an account of a prayer partner and all other missionaries and their work in 1958.

The group sang "Jesus, the Very Thought of Thee."

Springbrook affiliated group was in charge of the offering ceremony. Mrs. R. McKeown and Mrs. Delbert Fleming gathered the free-will gifts and Mrs. H. Beare gave the dedicatory prayer.

Present Playette

St. Paul's W.M.S., Stirling, under the leadership of Mrs. A. Packman gave an interesting playette, "Edge of the Village." The setting was in the Belgian Congo and the story was centred around old tribal customs and the Lauback method of teaching Africans to read. The cast was:

Mother, Mrs. James Hough; Father, Mrs. Robert Patterson; son, Mrs. Gilbert Finkle; daughter, Mrs. Roy Tucker; uncle, Mrs. Ted Reynolds; bride-to-be, Mrs. Harry Waite.

The church hall was decorated with baskets of autumn flowers and Japanese lanterns. Here Mount Pleasant W.M.S. served a hot dinner to the guests.

AFTERNOON SESSION

Mrs. Carlisle in her opening remarks in the afternoon stated that if we as W.M.S. women are to be concerned about the Africans we must be willing to ignore what life owes us and to think about what we owe life.

Stop complaining and start praising, stop looking for friendship and start being friendly. Stop pining for things we have not and be content with what we do have. Stop looking for someone to help us and devote ourselves to helping others. Stop concentrating on what we've accomplished and think of what others do for us.

We as Christian women have been given much. The measure of our privilege is the measure of our responsibility. We have a responsibility in the sight of God to share as we are able so that the hungry may be fed, the sick healed, the blind may receive their sight and the lame walk. We have a great responsibility to see that the message of Jesus Christ is spoken clearly throughout the world — where the need for His truth is so urgent. Jesus Christ alone is big enough for this world's needs but He needs our help. God in His wisdom has made it that way. The real measure of our importance in this life is to share His work. One of the effective ways in which we can share is through our willingness to serve.

Grace Church Afternoon Auxiliary, Trenton, under the leadership of their president, Mrs. M. A. Sills, and her assistants, gave the worship, based on "We Are All Brothers." The key verse was "If Go so loved us, we ought also to love one another."

The teaching of brotherhood is an essential part of Christianity. The missionary goes out to peoples of other lands because they are his brothers and he wishes to bring them abundance of life. Missionary work has been a part of the church's life and doctrine throughout every age and Christ continually taught the value of the message "Go and Tell."

Mrs. Clarence Holmes, President of Belleville Presbytery W.M.S., introduced the guest speaker, Miss Frances M. Walbridge, missionary in Dondi, Angola, Africa, who is now home on furlough.

where girls were taught hygiene and Bible lessons.

Teach Lauback Method

In 1958 general assembly gave approval to a new project for teaching women the Lauback Method of reading for one month in the summer vacation.

When the girls went on holidays they were given certain Mission areas where they make use of their lessons and conducted schools for the women in the village.

A large number of girls were given government holidays and they returned to their native villages to show doubtless Africans that it pays to educate African girls.

Forty-two girls took their government examinations at the Mean School and 16 will go for higher education.

Mr. Anson Moorhouse and his team spent some time in Angola making movies, color transparencies and stories for the African year. The group included Munroe Scott, script writer, and sometimes there were 11 people all engaged in this particular phase of the work.

Miss Walbridge attended the Angola Evangelical Alliance meetings and this is a wonderful place for the missionaries to renew their strength and receive fresh inspiration. Some of those in attendance were Dr. James Russell who had just returned from England, and Dr. and Mrs. Cecil Scott who had been in Lisbon where the former represented all Protestant Missions working in the Portuguese empires.

In August of last year almost all the missionaries from the eight mission fields spent a few days in camp, and enjoyed a "Spiritual Pause." They all lived as one family and had special times each day for meditation and communion. It was very restful for both body and soul.

Later in the year Miss Walbridge was in charge of the home economics department. Here the girls were taught sewing and general homekeeping as well as Bible study.

The week-ends were spent in literary projects among the leprosy patients in a nearby village.

Everywhere the Africans who have heard God's word are anxious to teach others.

Miss Walbridge's closing words were: "We must push literacy among girls and women. It is a challenge to the Christian church and the women of the W.M.S. Will you be a light in the darkness to inspire more missionaries to go overseas?" Miss Walbridge held up a tiny light made from two sardine cans, a pop bottle top and a small wick. She said, "It isn't much of a light, but let us use any light we have to chase away the darkness for African womanhood, for only in the last three or four years have girls tried to go to school."

Mrs. Marguerite McMullen sang "Some One Must Tell Them Who Knows," with Mrs. K. Weaver as accompanist.

Mrs. Percy Sutherland and Mrs. Gilbert Sills, of Centenary Auxiliary gathered the offering which Mrs. Robert Hart dedicated.

Mrs. Harry Pierson, of Wellington, periodical Presbytery secretary, gave a vivid picture of all the interesting items that are found in "The Missionary Monthly," where there are many articles on Africa and a page of helpful advice for each auxiliary secretary. "The World Friends" magazine is a wonderful little book for children.

Mrs. R. M. McMullen, of Sidney Charge, conducted a panel discussion on the theme "Lengthen Your Cords and Strengthen Your Stakes" through worship, witness, fellowship and service. She was assisted by Mrs. Ross Marshall, Aikens W.M.S.; Mrs. Morley Phillips, Walbridge W.M.S., and Mrs. R. Copeland, Scots W.M.S.

Many items of interest were given at the close of the missionary summer summarized the findings. Truly the African church has heard the call and six percent of all their church givings is set aside for their own home missions work which includes juvenile delinquency.

The roll call with Mrs. David Luery as secretary, showed that most of the auxiliaries were well represented.

An invitation to convene in Walbridge United Church in 1960 was accepted.

Mrs. Charles Johnston, of Trenton, gave the courtesy report and thanked each one who had participated in making the West Belleville Sectional Rally a success.

Mrs. Carlisle's closing message stressed that it is the task of Christ's Church to work for Africa and for all mankind. All members of the section should be willing to work for Africa, the land to which our blessed Lord was taken as a refugee nineteen hundred years ago, the land to which He would now return as Saviour and Lord.

Rev. W. G. Fletcher, B.A., pronounced the benediction and another successful rally came to a close.

Horticultural Society Hints

HOUSEPLANTS CAN WATER THEMSELVES

What to do with house plants while the owners are away is the hardy perennial question. However, I discovered that it is actually possible to have the plants watered by the absentee, capillary method — possible and effective!

Place the plants on the kitchen counter, table or floor, even the bath tub can be used and circle them more or less around a small stand. Place a generous container of water on the elevation as the reservoir must be above the plants. Sun or shade will depend on the types of plants.

Tear inch-wide strips of muslin, long enough to reach from the bottom of the water container to the flower pot one strip to each plant as a rule. Wet the strips and nature will take over, drop by drop! For large pots wider strips should be used or use more than one strip. For a three inch pot a strip about a quarter of an inch wide may be enough for effective operation. Be sure to wet the strips first and be sure the container is large enough for the reservoir. Test the system several times before going away. If the floor is utilized, rubber mats would be a protection for the hard wood finish.

After 18 days of the drop by drop treatment in midsummer, I found my plants in good condition in damp earth, and since all doors and windows were closed there was no ventilation, no outside air. A 30 day test is now in progress and the only thing needed is a larger container as a reservoir.

A humorous reading, "Bessie's

Bull", was given by Mrs. Frank Smith. "Mrs. Jones and the Burglar", a reading by Mrs. E. Foster, also proved humorous.

Mrs. W. C. West gave one part of the topic for Remembrance Day — "What is a Nation". It is a contract in which three parties are involved, the dead, the living and the yet unborn. All our fathers brought with them to these shores, all that has been achieved in our struggle for the advancement of mankind, all the moral causes and spiritual things which move the hearts of the people — these put together into a living unity, makes the reality and sanctity of the nation. How fitting then that we have this day a sacred memory in honour of our Nation in gratitude for all who have served its ideal and its faith; all who have fallen in war, that it might grow and be glorified; that liberty, justice and goodwill may live and abide with us.

Mrs. Frank Smith's topic was entitled, "The Greatest Love". The great deliverance which the day commemorates was one which we all shared. Remembrance Day is, therefore, a very personal day. It is different from all other days. It bids us recall the two World shaking conflicts of our time, and the grim toll they exacted — the dead, the halt, the maimed, the blind. So Remembrance Day freshens our minds to bow our heads and over our fair Dominion we express our tribute to God and to man with these words: "Greater love hath no man than this, that he lay down his life for his friends".

The closing number was two contests — one "Split Personality" and the other, "Who Am I?", with the winner for both being Mrs. D. Montgomery and Mrs. B. Reid, with a reward of nuts and candy.

A very tasty lunch was enjoyed with the usual visit.

Mrs. Luella Bronson, on behalf of the members, voiced appreciation to the hostess and the program committee for this most outstanding meeting.

Stirling Girl Guides Receive Tulips

A shipment of golden tulip bulbs has arrived in Stirling from Holland, part of a huge order of three-quarters of a million bulbs to be planted by Girl Guide companies and Brownie packs from coast to coast to mark the Golden Jubilee of Guiding in Canada in 1960.

The Stirling tulips, ordered by the Rangers, Guides and Brownies have been planted at the High School as a "thank you" to the community for its co-operation with the Guide movement since its formation here. The bulbs are all Golden Harvest tulips and are planted in an oblong bed. They will bear a small notice stating that they are the gift of the Guides and Brownies to mark their Golden Jubilee.

The tulips have been planted by the girls themselves under the direction of Capt. Bryant and Mr. Basker of the High School. The huge shipment, one of the largest tulip orders ever to be placed in Canada, was shipped from Holland to the ports of Montreal and Vancouver, and the bulbs have been distributed from these points to communities in every province. Orders for each community were individually packed and labelled in Holland, and each order carries with it detailed planting instructions for the particular climate where the bulbs will grow.

Next spring the Girl Guide "River of Gold" will start to bloom on Vancouver Island and will gradually flow across Canada to the coast of Newfoundland. Even the Yukon will make a special tributary to the river, with Guide companies and Brownie packs there planting special forcing bulbs in pots for gifts to churches and hospitals, replacing outdoor beds, which are impractical there.

There will be a meeting of the business men's section of the Chamber of Commerce in the office of the Ontario Department of Agriculture on Tuesday next, November 24th at 9:00 p.m. to arrange the Christmas store hours and the annual Santa Claus parade. It is expected that there will be a full turnout of the business men to discuss and plan these matters.

Vandalism

Some person or persons played a mean trick on C. H. Davidson, local feed merchant and trucker, Wednesday night when tires of one truck were deflated and the prestone drained from another. Fortunately the loss of the antifreeze was noticed before the truck was driven, otherwise it could have had serious consequences.

Seeking Chopin Souvenirs Here

The following letter was received by F. R. Mallory, Village Clerk:

Knights Spur, Dukes Wood Drive, Gerrards Cross, Buckinghamshire, England. November 13th, 1959

Dear Sir:

I am writing a "Western World" British Contribution to the Chopin in Poland — 1950 being the 150th anniversary of Chopin's birth. It is a thesis on Jane Stirling (1804-59) youngest daughter of John Stirling of Kippendavie, in Dunblane Perthshire, Scotland.

It was Jane who came to Chopin's assistance at the end of his life, but before that she played an important part in his affairs, organizing his last Paris concert before arranging his visit to England and Scotland in 1848.

After Chopin's death, Jane collected together all the Chopin souvenirs she could find and brought them to Scotland where they remained for a considerable time.

On the suggestion of the Superintendent of the British Museum Newspaper Library at Colindale, I am writing to ask for your help. It is very possible that a few of these Chopin souvenirs, and Jane's souvenirs also, have found their way to Canada, also

America.

Could you very kindly publicize my project, and ask the citizens of Stirling, in particular, to write to me that their ancestors have come from Stirlingshire or Dunblane, only six miles from Stirling in Scotland.

Should any of them have any family wraps that might assist, I should be very grateful for their assistance.

Yours very sincerely,

Audrey Evelyn Bone (Miss)

Mount Pleasant United Church W.A. Holds Successful Tea and Bazaar

Mount Pleasant-Rawdon W.A. Tea and Bazaar was held Friday afternoon, November 6th, with eighty guests in attendance from Carmel, Burnbrae, Hoards, Campbellford, Wellman's, Ivanhoe, Springbrook, Eggleton, West Huntingdon, Belgrave, Bethel, Stirling, and other points.

The treasurer and secretary were in charge of the admission fee for the tea.

The church was decorated with baskets of yellow, white and bronze 'mums. The guests were received by Mrs. W. G. Fletcher and Mrs. Grant Hubble. Mrs. Kenneth Weaver gave an organ prelude and the president, Mrs. Carleton Potts, welcomed the guests.

The Devotional was in charge of Mrs. Frank Jeffs and Mrs. Burton Sharpe. The guest pianist was Mrs. Vernon Matthews of Stirling, and she contributed music before and after the panel discussion.

Mr. Bruce Kerr and four members of The Children's Aid Staff, Belleville, gave a descriptive account of the work carried on by that organization which covers an area of four thousand square miles. The advisory service helps people to help themselves and protects the child.

In the child-care department, the homes are visited to see if children are happily situated. The work of "The Receiving Home and Observation Centre", on Highland Avenue, was also outlined. The Home-Finding department stated that foster parents come from all walks of life.

The adoption policy of the C.A.S. is being promoted. The president voiced thanks to the panel for the informative message.

The conveners then invited the group to the church hall which was decorated with evergreens, Japanese lanterns, small pumpkins and baskets of yellow 'mums.

Mrs. Robert Merrick and Mrs. Harry McAdam were in charge of the Country Store. The centre decoration was a loaf of homemade bread on a glass pedestal plate, surrounded by garden produce, eggs, butter, jellies, jams, pickles, apples, etc.

Mrs. Raymond McConnel and Mrs. Will McAdam were in charge of the Children's Wear Booth which was centred with a large doll and varie-gated streamers. Children's clothes of all descriptions were displayed, also children's knitted wear.

The Candy Booth of which Mrs. Will Jeffs and Mrs. Ernest Spencer were in charge, soon sold a large variety of homemade candy, packaged in bags and boxes.

The Plant Booth, convened by Mrs. Milford Wrightman and Miss Margaret McMullen, was well-stocked with a large variety of small potted plants and parsley.

TOMATO JUICE USED IN BARBECUE SAUCE
FOR PORK CHOPS

Everyone will agree that sparkling bright tomato juice is one of the most refreshing cold drinks they know of . . . but it has all sorts of other uses, too. For example, when heated, tomato juice makes an attractive bouillon. A bouillon cube may be added or not and the soup seasoned with a dash of spicy meat sauce or herbs. It is attractive when served with a sprinkling of pop corn, chopped chives or parsley floating on the top. A thin slice of lemon with 3 or 4 whole cloves stuck into it, also makes a colourful garnish for tomato bouillon.

Besides being used in soups, tomato juice adds good flavour to pot roast, stew, liver and many other meats. Jellied salads, casseroles, sauces and skillet dishes such as Spanish Rice are other ways in which good cooks use tomato juice.

One of the most popular sauces made with tomato juice is Barbecue Sauce. In the following recipe from the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture, the sauce is cooked with pork chops but the same sauce may be used for barbecuing spareribs, lamb riblets and other meats.

Barbecued Shoulder Chops

Brown pork shoulder chops in a small amount of fat over moderate heat. Season with salt and pepper. Pour in Barbecue Sauce to a depth of 1/4 inch, about 1 cup for 3 chops. (If necessary add more sauce during cooking). Cover with onion rings. Cook slowly in covered pan either on top of stove or in centre of moderately slow oven (325 degs. F.), 50 to 60 minutes, turning chops at half-time.

Barbecue Sauce

2 tablespoons brown sugar
1/2 teaspoons dry mustard
1 to 2 teaspoon chili powder
1 teaspoon salt
1-8 teaspoon pepper
1/2 tablespoons spicy meat sauce
3 tablespoons vinegar
1/2 cup finely chopped onion
3 cups tomato juice

Mix brown sugar and seasonings. Stir in remaining ingredients. Simmer 10 minutes. Makes 3 cups.

30 Municipalities Without Auditor

Municipal Affairs Minister Warrender said this week he is seeking a solution to the plight of about 30 Ontario municipalities who are without an auditor because of the recent cancellation of the municipal auditing license of John D. Lewars, Belleville chartered accountant.

"My main concern is with the municipalities," said Mr. Warrender, "and in helping them to keep their records straight." He said some of them might have been in the midst of their annual audits when Mr. Lewars' license was suspended as a result of the recent inquiry into Belleville's financial troubles.

Several communities, including the town of Preston, have filed appeals to Mr. Warrender's office, seeking to have the cancellation of Mr. Lewars' permit rescinded.

"I am looking into the matter," the minister stated, "and hope to be able to do something to help these municipalities and to help Mr. Lewars himself."

OF MANY THINGS

(By Ambrose Hills)

THE IMPORTANCE OF HOME

I have had occasion to spend a good deal of time with older people lately, and in my dealings with them I have found one thing that seems always to come up. They insist, without exception, that when they look back over their lives the most important memories are of home . . . the homes they lived in as children, and the homes they provided for their own families. One old man told me sadly that, "I guess I put less effort into my home than anything, but got more out of it." He said that if he had it to do over again, he would work just as hard at being a good member of the family circle as he did at being a successful preacher.

That made me think of Maurice Chevalier who, at 70, is creating new and fabulous successes. Chevalier has been smart; he has made several fortunes, but he kept his life very simple. "My life has always centered in my home," he said recently. He spends his money carefully, and most of it goes into his home. None of it goes to bluff others about his wealth. He doesn't gad around. He spends many nights just watching television, and he goes to bed early. "I want to live the kind of life I believe in," he said, "and not the phony kind."

It seems to me Chevalier has the right idea. I am pleased that TV seems to be helping to make central part of our lives these days, although I wish it could be done without too much TV watching. A nation of citizens raised in good homes is going to be a good nation, and strong.

I read that in China the communists are taking children away from the family as soon as possible, and raising them impersonally in communes. I grieve for those children, and for China itself. What millions of fine memories are being destroyed! And worst of all, those who are perpetrating this terrible thing are doing it in the name of humanity. They are convinced they are being virtuous, because they believe that in the long run China will profit from it.

That, to my mind, is the curse of these "isms." They all claim great virtue. They all seem able to commit the most heinous crimes while mouthing pious platitudes about the systems they are building!

Let's hope Canada continues to make home a sacred place.

THE BIBLE TODAY

(By Rev. C. R. Rudd)

The people of Hawaii, the 50th and latest State to be admitted to the Union, speak a score of languages.

The first group of missionaries, seven married men and their wives, sent out in 1820 by the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, found the people without a written language or religion; yet responsive and willing to learn. Within 35 years of the arrival of the missionaries one third of the entire population became members of the Christian church.

A Bible Reading and Sharing Programme on the Island of Maui, concentrating on the Sermon on the Mount, was shared by the young people of the churches who distributed more than 32,000 pocket-sized Portions. The Sermon on the Mount was also read on radio and television stations and newspapers printed it on their front page.

Suggested Bible Readings:

Sunday — Act 8: 26-40
Monday — 2 John: 1-13
Tuesday — 3 John 1-15
Wednesday — Jude 1-25
Thursday — Psalms 103: 1-22
Friday — Psalms 23: 1-6
Saturday — Psalms 46: 1-11

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

HOW TO SAVE YOUR LIFE WITH LIGHTS

Shorter days and the rush of late Fall work mean that a lot more farmers are going to head for their fields before sunrise and return after dark. It means that many of you will be driving tractors and equipment during hours of poor visibility.

"Too often this equipment is poorly lighted," says Hal Wright, Safety Specialist with the Ontario Department of Agriculture. "Our first quarter results of the Farm Accident Survey showed that there were many accidents that were attributed to poor lighting. Apparently inadequate lighting and slow movement make a dangerous combination."

Warns Wright: "Farm vehicles on highways should be clearly seen at 500 feet, which means lights should be turned on in snow, fog, rain, darkness, and under any conditions that affect normal visibility."

He suggests mounting one green clearance light to the extreme front left projection of a towed implement, and one red clearance light to the rear. In addition, two red lamps should be displayed to the rear of the combination or one red light and two reflectors to the rear.

"Most new tractors are equipped with electric lighting systems, and the implements that they tow are equipped with mounting brackets on which to put your warning lights," says the Safety Expert. "The Department of Highways requires every farm tractor to be equipped with two approved single-beam or multiple-beam headlights to the front. And it must have one rear red light that's visible 50 feet from the rear."

What about self-propelled implements with their own lighting systems? They also require 2 red lights or 1 red lamp and 2 red reflectors, and 2 headlights at the front as for other vehicles.

"These lights and reflectors warn traffic there's a potential hazard ahead," he points out. "Be sure to position them not more than 6 inches from the edge of the implement so that they show from the front and the rear the widest part of the vehicle. This presents a passing side to another vehicle."

EVERGREENS NEED WINTER PROTECTION

So you bought that Spruce and planted it — according to the book. It was a lovely thing.

But what was wrong next Spring? All the needles were brown and dropping off! Well, at least you can say that it wasn't winter-injury that did it; those Evergreens just love the winter.

But do they? No! Evergreens are not really the "Iron Men" of the home grounds. They need winter-protection, just like any other less-hardy plantings.

Look out for drying winter winds as one of the main causes of winter injury. When there is little snow cover and the ground is frozen, the roots can't take up the water they lose. Areas where the ground has been blown clear of snow are subject to injury.

Bright, sunny weather often leads to winter injury. The protective snow cover will melt rapidly and the ground will dry out and freeze at night.

Sometimes small branches on white cedars suddenly turn brown and die in the Spring. This can be caused by small breaks in the twigs, followed by drying out. These breaks may be the result of persons forcing their way through a hedge. Sleet storms may also cause small breaks.

What can you do? Specialists with the Ontario Department of Agriculture make this suggestion:

Soak the soil around plantings just before freeze-up. This will help prevent drying-out of the foliage.

Mulch with peat moss or straw manure. This is valuable in areas where there is little snow to act as insulator.

Use snow fencing for protection against wind and sun. Evergreen branches and discarded Christmas tree may also be used. Large trees may need a frame support and burlap for protection. Be sure to erect the framework before the ground freezes.

KILL OUT THOSE CHOKE CHERRIES

Now's the time to pull out those wild or choke cherry trees in your pasture, says the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

When these trees are damaged by frost, glucocides which contain hydrocyanic acid are formed within the leaves. A handful of these wilted leaves can contain enough poison to kill a cow or several sheep.

The best way to get rid of the problem is to remove the trees. When they have lost all their leaves, cut them down or pull them out. Keep livestock away from these trees if any leaves remain.

Animals affected with this poison breathe rapidly, become depressed, and show bluish discolouration of the mucous membranes. They rarely live more than a few hours.

Your veterinarian may be able to save some animal with emergency intravenous treatment, but it is important that treatment be given as soon as possible.

Wild or choke cherry trees can exist for years without causing any losses, then a broken limb or an early hard frost makes available enough deadly poison to kill a half dozen cows or a whole flock of sheep.

CLIPPED COWS STAY CLEANER

Milk cows that are brought into the barn just before the snow flies have already developed a heavy coat of hair. To keep them clean, it's best to clip the hair from the belly and udder and even the flanks, say Livestock specialists of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Three or four strokes up the backbone will help, too. Not only will clipping help stop accumulating in the long hair along the topline, but it helps control lice. Some folks go a step further and clip the whole body.

It's important to do this job early in the Fall. Reclip as soon as the hair grows enough to start collecting dirt and straw.

STRESSED POULTRY

The tempo of living in poultry houses has increased in recent years and specialists claim that chickens suffer from stress.

R. E. Smith of the CDA Experimental Farm, Napan, Nova Scotia, points out that stress has resulted from intensive methods in breeding, feeding and management.

Like humans they can experience stress from dirty homes and utensils, overheating, chilling, insufficient feeding and watering, poor lighting, unbalanced rations and certain drugs. While few chickens are drug addicts, their owners are prone to administer some of the more highly advertised dope to the reluctant birds.

Other causes of stress are improper handling and moving.

Mr. Smith suggests that the poultryman attempting to digest the rapidly unfolding mass of information on stress turned out by the researcher is likely to fall victim to the disease himself. It would be wiser, he suggests, just to stress sound feeding and good management, thereby reducing stress all round.

Income Outpaces Food Cost Rise

The average Canadian housewife, struggling to balance her grocery budget, probably years for the "good old days" when the shopping dollar seemed to stretch farther.

Yet, while food prices and incomes have both increased, incomes have led the way.

This is vividly illustrated in a booklet just published by the Canada Department of Agriculture called "Our Food Costs".

By story and coloured charts, it shows, among other things, that if people bought the same food in 1935-39 as they do today, a family of four would have received only two-thirds as much for a week's disposable income — or 2.6 baskets of food, compared with 4.1 baskets of food in 1953.

The booklet is available free from the department's information division at Ottawa.

Shifting lanes abruptly is sometimes permissible in the city, but should never take place on the expressway. High speed driving calls for different techniques. Lane-changing on the expressway, should be much more deliberate, and should be unmistakeably signaled well in advance.

No Time For Thinking During An Accident

Things happen so fast during most accidents that you haven't time to think your way out of them. And often if you did have the time, once the chain of events in an accident have started, you couldn't escape from it anyway. The solution: Look before you leap.

So says Ontario Department of Agriculture Safety Expert Harold Wright. He uses this farmer's letter, describing a case history of an accident, as an example:

"I have an apple tree which must be the highest apple tree in the world. So, to harvest it I rigged up a pulley and connected a large barrel to one end. I pulled the barrel up to the top of the tree and secured the rope to the trunk on the ground. I then went up the tree and picked the first barrel of apples from the uppermost twig, then I climbed down the tree and unhooked the line from the truck. Unfortunately, the barrel of apples was heavier than I was, and before I knew what was happening the barrel started jerking me off the ground.

"I decided to hang on and halfway up I met the barrel of apples coming down and received a severe blow on the shoulder. I then continued to the top of the tree, hanging my head on the limbs and getting my fingers jammed in the pulley. When the barrel of apples hit the ground, it burst its bottom and all the apples spilled out. I was now heavier than the barrel and so started down again at high speed. Half way down, I met the empty barrel coming up and received severe injuries to my shins. Then when I hit the ground, I landed on the truck rigging, getting several painful cuts from the sharp edges and corners."

taining a crop of trees on their forest land. Thus, through the efforts of many individuals, we can be assured of trees for to-morrow.

Fall Planting Completed

The fall tree planting program which involved some 398,500 trees has now been completed. This, together with the 770,000 trees planted last spring brings the total trees planted by the Department on Crown lands and Agreement Forests in this district to a healthy 1,169,400 trees. Of this total, White and Red Pine accounted for 66 per cent and Spruce for another 17 per cent. The balance consists of a multitude of species including Scotch Pine, Jack Pine, Carolina Poplar and European Larch.

It is just as easy to conform to, as it is to disregard the guidance of marking lines. And very much safer.

The good driver observes all road directions, without question. At the present time, we anticipate a considerable increase in our program to a total of around 1,500,000 trees. Through this tree planting program, we are able to give Mother Nature a helping hand where the natural regeneration processes have failed to produce a satisfactory crop of young trees.

among drivers of every kind.

Why does it happen? Every driver knows that markings are for the protection of all who use the roads. Why are they ignored so repeatedly?

Other violations such as excessive speed, illegal or selfish parking, presumably offer some advantage — in the mind of the driver, at least. But it is difficult to understand the motivation of the motorist who habitually stops half way over the crosswalk, or straddles lanes. He can get nothing out of it — apart from black looks, horn blasts, and an increased chance of getting into a hospital ward.

It is just as easy to conform to, as it is to disregard the guidance of marking lines. And very much safer.

The good driver observes all road directions, without question. There is no strain in keeping four wheels to one side of a white line, instead of two. He feels at ease, driving at the correct speed in the correct position. It is automatic for him to keep within the protective boundary of the lane lines. The habit-pattern is so strong that he gets an instinctive quickening of alertness whenever it becomes necessary to cross the boundary.

A good driver, says the Ontario Safety League, does not leave the comfort and protection of his lane markings. Unfortunately, it is a misuse of the road that is widespread.

The Good Driver

One of the less understandable of driving follies is the disregard of road markings. Unfortunately, it is a misuse of the road that is widespread.

Wolf Hunter Gets Biggest Prize of Career

Charles Gordaner, of Bonarlaw, is well known throughout the area as a wolf hunter of some repute. During the past decade he has bagged literally dozens of brush and timber wolves, but last week he shot the grand-daddy of them all, a seven foot long, 90 pound wolf near his home at Bonarlaw.

Mr. Gordaner was returning from a deer hunting expedition when he spotted the big wolf. He fired one shot from the hip with a .303 rifle. The wolf limped off into the brush south of Highway 14.

As it was getting dark, Gordaner said he let the wolf go till morning, because he could think of safer things to do than to trail a wounded timber wolf in the dark.

Next morning he found his kill. The animal measured just over 7 feet from nose to tail and weighed a little over 90 pounds. Mr. Gordaner said it was by far the largest he had seen in the area. A few years ago, he bagged 16 wolves during a six week period. At that time he was hunting with Harold Colden, of Springbrook.

He shot his first wolf 40 years ago and has lost count of the number he has killed since. The latest was shot on the farm of Gordon Webb, just east of Bonarlaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Guenter Harjes, of Toronto, spent the weekend at the home of the latter's mother, Mrs. H. David, John St.

Nominations To Be Held Monday

Nominees To Be Named
Between 7 and 8 p.m. —
Election If Needed, 7.

A nomination meeting for the Village will be held in the Community Hall on Monday night next, November 30th at 7:00 o'clock. Nominations will be received from 7 to 8 when the Reeve, members of Council, School Trustees and Public Utility Commissioner will present their reports. Nominees have twenty-four hours in which to qualify.

It is hoped that there will be a good representation of ratepayers present to hear the reports of their elective representatives and show their interest in the affairs of the Village. This past year has been a trying one on the members of Council, with the sewerage system and other matters taking much more time than was anticipated. Without exception they have rendered faithful service to the ratepayers.

Whether or not they would be willing to act another year is problematical. No public announcement has been forthcoming from the members as to their intentions.

For the Public School Board there are three retiring members, Glen Whitehead, R. D. Cooke and Mrs. Robt. Luery. In conversation with the News-Argus Mr. Whitehead stated he will not seek re-election, but no announcement has been made by the other retiring members. Likewise with the Stirling Public Utilities, no announcement has been made by H. J. Wells, retiring Commissioner.

Ratepayers should make it a point to be present at Monday's nomination to ensure Stirling having strong municipal bodies in the coming year.

Christmas Gifts For Home Gardeners

Not only is it November but the first snow fell several days ago and in less than six weeks Christmas will be here! Well, you can't do much about home gardening for at least five months, but you can remember the home gardener when making up your Christmas gift list.

If you are buying a sprayer or duster, note whether it handles well and holds enough spray or dust for convenience but not so much that it will be uncomfortably heavy. Smaller, light-weight spades and rakes are especially suited to women and older gardeners, point out horticulturists with the Ontario Department of Agriculture. Long-handled edgers for trimming grass along walks and the canes that hold liquid weed-killers are tools that save stooping. Garden gloves or knee pads, a sprinkler hose or any of the easier, automatic tools would make welcome Christmas gifts for gardeners.

Those who grow plants from seed or are interested in house plants would appreciate a handy potting bench for sit-down work, where trowels, flower pots, seeds and fertilizer are within easy reach.

The woodlands of the pulp and paper companies are managed on a scientific basis.

Women Teachers Assoc'n. Hastings 3 Annual Meeting

The Women Teachers' Association of Hastings 3 held its Annual Fall meeting in the Earl Prentice School, Marmora, on Thursday evening, November 12th. Thirty-four members from the units Tweed, Madoc, Marmora and Stirling attended.

The Association President, Mrs. Manchester, of Marmora, had charge of the meeting. After the singing of "O Canada," the President welcomed all those attending. The treasurer's report was then given; the balance on hand was $126.96 which included twenty-five percent of the 1959-60 Federation dues.

Next on the agenda was the correspondence which was read by the Secretary, Ruth Bateman, of Marmora. This included a letter from the Leadership Committee regarding the "Education for Leadership" Conference to be held in the Westbury Hotel, Toronto, on the weekend of the 12th to 14th of February, 1960. Topics to be discussed included the leadership roles of women teachers in the classroom, in the school and in the community. The main address will be given by Dr. LaVerne Strong, Consultant, State Department of Education, Hartford, Connecticut. The President urged the members to attend this Conference.

Other business included arrangements for the Spring Meeting. It was decided, by voting, to have a banquet and a speaker for this meeting.

A collection, amounting to $11.50, for the Goodwill Fund, was taken. Miss Connor, of Madoc, explained how this money is used: needy retired teachers and teachers from the United Kingdom receive monetary gifts, student-teachers receive loans to assist them through Teachers' College, and the Student-Teacher Aid Bursaries of $200 each are awarded annually to women students who qualify by obtaining 75 percent or over in the Grade XIII examinations. This year a student from Hastings 3, Frances Prest, of Ivanhoe, was awarded one of the thirteen bursaries.

The reports of the delegates to the previous meetings were given. Miss M. Young, Stirling Unit, reported on the Spring Assembly held in Ottawa in May 1959. Miss Wilman, Madoc and Mrs. Derry, Madoc, reported on the Annual Meeting which was held in Toronto in August. Mrs. Reid, Marmora Unit, and Mrs. Tunmon, Stirling, had reports prepared on the Fall Assembly held in Port Hope in October. As Mrs. Tunmon was absent, Mrs. McInroy read the report.

Following the business meeting a social time was enjoyed. Mrs. Manchester conducted a contest which was won by Mrs. Burns, of Tweed, and Mrs. Woods, of Stirling. A sing-song was enjoyed by all. Miss Sipe, the music teacher in the Marmora Village and Township schools was accompanist. Miss Donaldia Heath, music teacher in Rawdon Township Schools, sang a lovely solo, "He," accompanied by Mrs. R. Huin, Stirling. Mrs. Campion and Mrs. Spry, of Marmora, conducted a game.

The meeting closed with lunch served by the Marmora Home and School Association.

Wellman's W.I.

The November meeting of Wellman's Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Frederick Beckett with 15 adults and 3 children in attendance.

Mrs. Byron Seeley, President, was in charge of the proceedings, opening with the Ode, followed by the Lord's Prayer. The minutes were read by the Secretary, Mrs. John Carlisle. There was a brief business discussion with a donation of $5.00 being given to the Christmas Seal Fund.

The roll call, "Bring in a Resolution," was well responded to. Some of these were picked to be presented at the next district annual. Mrs. Tom Russett gave the current events. A well prepared motto, "an unmentioned resolution will never be passed," was given by Mrs. Elmer Cotten.

The programme, which had been prepared by the resolution convener, Mrs. George Watson, opened with community singing led by Mrs. Watson with Mrs. Beckett at the piano. Mrs. Omar Dracup gave a reading "The Faithful Few." Mrs. Clifford Clancy sang "Rose of No Man's Land." Mrs. Beckett favoured with a piano consisting of a few popular numbers, after which Mrs. Jim Pollock gave a reading entitled "These Things Are Free."

A questionnaire on the opinions of the members with regards to the TV and radio programmes of today was filled out. Mrs. Seeley gave the highlights of the Area Convention in Belleville. Little Miss Dawn Beckett took up the collection.

Mrs. Kenneth Tompkins moved a vote of thanks to the hostess for her kind hospitality.

The meeting closed with the Institute Creed followed by the Queen. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess and her assistants and a social hour was enjoyed by everyone.

THE BIBLE TODAY

(By Rev. C. R. Rudd)

A young Muslim, visiting the Bible House in Lahore, Pakistan, after looking at copies of the Bible said to the General Secretary, Patrick N. Joshua, "You know there are many similarities between the Bible and the Koran, but there are certain passages which we do not understand. For instance the Bible says, 'love your enemies.' Now how can we love our enemies? If we did love them they would no longer be our enemies." So the Bible appears to the Muslims too idealistic and impractical. Mr. Joshua tells how, nevertheless, the Bible is having a practical influence on the lives of many of the young people.

Mayor G. Hyde Won't Run At Belleville Election

Mayor Gerald Hyde announced on Tuesday that he will not seek re-election next month.

The mayor was one of a number of Belleville officials criticized in a report by a Royal Commission that investigated the city's finances.

In making his announcement, Mayor Hyde said "I do not accept the blame for the situation that has developed." A MacLean Haig, a former mayor, has already announced he will be a contender in the December 7th mayoralty race.

St. Andrew's W.M.S.

West Huntingdon — St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, West Huntingdon, held their annual "Family Night" on Thursday evening, November 19th in the Church.

Mrs. Wm. Donnan, President, welcomed the visitors — a number of W.M.S. members from St. Andrew's, Stirling, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wanamaker, of Roslin, were present.

Following the singing of "Come Let Us Sing of a Wonderful Love," the Scripture, Luke 18, was read by Mrs. J. McInroy. Rev. K. J. Rooney led in prayer.

Rev. Stanley Self, of Strathcona Park, showed slides on the mission work in Thansi, India, where his brother, the Rev. Russell Self and Mrs. Self are missionaries.

Rev. Self spoke of the great need for missionaries. God calls us to His Service. Jesus gave His disciples the command, "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature."

He also gave the promise, "Lo I am with you always, even unto the end of the world." So God still calls us to His service. Let us give this great work our prayerful support and our financial aid. Let us give our children to Christ. This great need should be a challenge to all Christians.

Mrs. Harry Benson thanked the speaker for his inspirational message.

The children of the church sang "The Whole Wide World." The program closed by the singing of "From Greenland's Icy Mountains" and the Mizpah Benediction. Lunch was served.

START STOCKING UP FOR CHRISTMAS

Smart homemakers, at least those whose budgets bruise easily, like to begin their Christmas shopping early. Some extend this forethought to include food shopping, and it's a good idea, don't you agree? Nobody enjoys the prospect of having to cut down on food purchases in January in order to make up for going overboard in December!

Those of you who have home freezers have no doubt discovered the merits of stocking up with holiday foods well ahead of time. Besides spreading the extra expenditures over a longer period, this practice can save you a lot of last minute work and worry.

A peek into home freezers across the land right now would no doubt disclose many a Christmas corner heaped with goodies. For example, there might be a Christmas cake, plum pudding and the sauce to go with it, shortbread and all sorts of cookies, mince pies, butter tarts and home-made rolls, tea biscuits or muffins; a bag of bread crumbs all ready for the turkey stuffing; cranberry sauce and relish and applesauce; a tray or two of hors d'oeuvres, nuts, crisp potato chips and crackers still in their sealed boxes or other air-tight containers. For hurry-up holiday meals a big batch of spaghetti sauce and one of baked beans; the family's favourite casserole and several really good pork pies (tourties) would also be stored in the home freezer.

Of course, not all foods for the festive season require freezer storage.

Christmas cakes and plum puddings, which should be made several weeks ahead of time for best flavour, will keep very well in airtight wrappings or containers. Canned and bottled foods such as ham, chicken, seafood, juices, fruits, vegetables, pickles and the specialties you like to have on hand for parties, may be bought now and tucked away in a special spot in the back of your kitchen cupboard.

So, why not sit down immediately with paper and pencil and make out a list of the foods you're going to want for Christmas? If you pick up a few items on each shopping trip between now and the big day it will save you many last-minute, extra steps and at the same time cut down on your annual bout with the budget in January.

OF MANY THINGS

IS COMMUNISM A DEAD ISSUE?

A few years ago everybody was talking about Communism in Canada, and the dangers of infiltration. Today (perhaps because nobody wants to be called a witch hunter) you seldom hear too much about them. Does this mean Communism is a dead issue now?

Not according to J. H. Moore, of Hamilton, Ontario. In a speech to the Traffic Club of Hamilton the other day, he warned us not to scoff at the notion that Communists could take over here. He made his point by showing that at V-J Day the Communists controlled eight million square miles and 10% of the world population, whereas now, without any major war, they hold control over thirteen million square miles and about 35% of the world's population.

Mr. Moore then went on to show that many things are happening in Canada today that will pave the way to Communism unless we are watchful. He referred to all sorts of legislation which, while profitable to some, has restrictive results on all. We are too inclined, he said to give up individual freedoms in order to make a small financial gain or to please one pressure group or another.

Another fact used by Mr. Moore to prove his point was that today there are 200,000 people working for the Dominion government alone — whereas at the very peak of the War it took only 104,786 to administer our affairs. Mr. Moore says, "Our two older parties are socializing the country as quickly as the voters will accept it."

How does the individual help stop this drift?

Mr. Moore has some suggestions. First, vote every chance you get, after studying the issues. Then be sure to know the name and address of your representative in Ottawa, or your provincial capital, and let him have your views. On top of that, Moore would have us all adopt the following four freedoms:

1. The freedom to gripe and criticize, particularly at governments.
2. The freedom to change jobs.
3. The freedom to choose how to spend our own income.
4. Freedom to be right, even when what we know to be right is unpopular.

He feels that if we maintain those four freedoms, we'll have gone a long way toward maintaining the four freedoms enunciated by President Roosevelt.

I think he has something there!

Brownie Enrolment

Monday, November 23rd, was a special day for the five Tweenies who were to be enrolled into the First Stirling Brownie Pack after weeks of preparation. The big day had arrived, won't you join me as Commissioner and enjoyed their proud moment with them.

First, we shall rap on their door and one smiling Brownie will bid you to enter, then we shall receive a warm welcome from the entire pack. We will then proceed through an aisle of smiling Brownies and receive a warm hand shake and salute from Pachy, Tawny and Brown Owl. Then Brown Owl will tell us, we are free to come and go, look and know what we shall show or as you please. After this two Brownies will escort us to our chair beside the parents of the Tweenies to be enrolled and the Badge

Secretary is there too.

Later we shall be asked to join the Fairy Ring at the toadstool and watch while Brown Owl will magic the pack. This will be difficult to watch as your eyes will stray to the faces of the Brownies who are intently watching as Brown Owl completes her task.

In the Fairy Ring you will find a little pool and Brown Owl will touch the Tweenie who is to be enrolled and she will go looking for Tawny Owl. Tweenie tells her she wants to become a Brownie. Tawny then says I'll twist you and turn you and show you the Elf. She looks in the pool and then sees herself. Tawny then brings the Tweenie to us and introduces us and tells us she wants to become a Brownie.

We will say to her, "what is the Brownie Law?" She says: "A Brownie gives in to the older folk. A Brownie does not give in to herself." Then we shall say, "do you know that if you now make the Brownie Promise you must always stick to it afterwards and do your best to carry it out?" Tweenie says, "yes." We shall say, do you still wish to make it?" The new Brownie says, "yes."

We shall then invite her to the toadstool to make her Promise and while making the Brownie Sign she will say: "I promise to do my best, to do my duty to God and the Queen, to help other people every day, especially those at home." Brown Owl or you and I will then pin the Brownie Pin on her brand new tie and the Sash Emblem on her right breast, then we give her the Brownie handshake. Watch this carefully and don't extend the usual right hand, always your left. You see it leaves your right hand free for the sign or the salute. We then warmly welcome her into the Pack and tell her we trust her to do her best for her Pack.

Those enrolled were Connie Tucker, who went into the Gromes; Mary Ellen Pryor, who went into the Pescies and Vicki Hay who also joined the Pescies; Bonnie Tanner, who went into the Elves; she had such a wonderful Brownie smile, and Ann Morton, who made a dear wee Fairie.

Now, didn't you really enjoy yourself on this adventure into Brownie Land and can't you see that while we as leaders are helping the children the children are helping us, for no one who works with children — boys or girls — could never not gain anything from their contact with them, for it makes better adults of us because of their trust and faith in us. We must live our lives accordingly to keep that faith and trust.

I hope that our little trip has shown you a little of what goes on at Brownie meetings and that you will feel free as parents and members of the community to join with us on our special occasions and that you will extend a helping hand when ever necessary. Thank you.

There's A Right Way To Water House Plants

"Water the plants, please."

So either little Jannie or his Dad fills up the pitcher and pours: That's all. When the pitcher is empty, the job is done. The plant's water supply always depends on the size of that pitcher.

What if the plant didn't get enough water? It would grow poorly, shed leaves and show the dullest of foliage. Too much water. The roots and plant parts at the soil level would die and decay because of lack of soil oxygen.

You must get the proper amount on those plants. But how? Horticulturists with the Ontario Department of Agriculture suggest viewing the problem with these factors in mind: temperature, humidity, light, soil, type of plant, age of plant, growth rate and size of container.

How can you tell when a plant needs water? First, look at the condition of the soil surface, or tap the pot. A dry pot will give a clear sound when tapped; a wet one will give a dull sound. And don't forget that water has weight — a wet pot is heavier.

When watering, add enough water to wet the soil to the bottom of the pot. If the plant is in a warm area and is growing quickly, then daily watering may be necessary. Other cases may call for only weekly watering. Water early in the day so that the plants are not soaked over-night.

A Few Extras:

Don't wet the foliage — it may lead to disease.

If chemically softened water causes injury, use rain water or melted snow.

Water the plant from the top every two weeks, even when you water from a dish under the pot. If you don't, crystals of soil nutrients will form on the surface and cause injury.

Some house plants are harmed by cold water right from the tap. Warm the water slightly to prevent this chilling.

Few things are harder to sell — to get across to the individual — than fire safety. Yet hundreds of communities across Canada every year make an all-out effort to sell it and are amazingly successful, as shown by actual records.

WHERE IT BELONGS IN A COMPACT CAR

BETTER BRAKING — Corvair is designed to put an almost equal brake load on every wheel; the rear end maintains solid, sure traction for smooth, straightline stops in virtually any situation.

LESS NOISE, LESS HEAT — Engine noise, heat, fumes are behind the passengers; carried away by the wind stream as you drive.

LESS MAINTENANCE — Corvair's air-cooled engine never needs antifreeze, never boils in the hottest weather. It warms up quicker in cold weather, so there's much less cold-start wear.

BETTER HANDLING — Corvair's "flat" engine and lower floor gets the centre of gravity way down; it rides rock-solid through the tightest turns. Steering is light as a feather, will never need power assistance.

LESS NEEDLESS WEIGHT — Corvair's power plant is mostly aluminum. And it's air-cooled — no need for a radiator, water pump, hoses or even the weight of the water itself. And there's an added plus here; we designed a gas-fired car heater* that gives warmth almost instantly.

Engine, transmission, and rear axle are all bolted together into one solid power unit. We save literally hundreds of pounds, and that makes a whopping big difference in performance and in gasoline economy.

THE RIGHT ANSWER — It took a terrific amount of engineering and Chevrolet's tremendous resources to design, test and set up production on a precedent-shattering car like Corvair. But the first time you get behind the wheel — you'll agree it was worth every penny and every hour!

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

WHERE WE STAND IN HOG PRODUCTION

Looks like Canada's hog production will go over the 8 million mark in 1959 — a good 1½ million more hogs than last year and 38 percent above the average for the last 5 years. And Ontario which accounts for one third of the country's total is heading for an all-time high.

Comments R. P. Forshaw of the Animal Husbandry Department at the O.A.C.: "As of May 31st, stocks of pork in storage were almost 3½ times as heavy as in the 3 previous years, even though our domestic consumption and exports to the U.S. have been well ahead of a year ago. As this stored pork must eventually come on the domestic market or be exported, it will have a depressing effect on price until storage supplies are down to normal levels."

"Production to date is still running about 40 percent heavier than a year ago," says Forshaw. "However, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics indicates that there will be gradual reduction to the 1958 level. Only a general cutting back in production will bring our supply and demand in better balance."

MANY REFERENCES IN BIBLE MADE OF THE WORD "BUTTER"

The first recorded mention of butter is found in the first book of the Bible (Genesis 18:8) wherein it is noted "... he (Abraham) took butter, milk, and the calf and set it before them." This is one of many references that the Bible makes to butter, and always to portray it as a highly desirable commodity.

Butter as a food, was much sought after by early people. However, it was used also as a lubricant, a cosmetic and a medicine. The Romans used it as a liniment while the early Macedonians thought that it had great healing powers when used as an ointment or taken internally. Athletes, in ancient times, anointed themselves with butter in the belief that it gave them added strength. The wealthy of India were given to using butter as a mark of ostentation, greasing the wheels of wedding chariots with it rather than employing the much cheaper lubricants available. One explanation of this is that the belief was held that by using butter the free-wheeling qualities given to the chariot would continue to mark the marriage and cause it to forever run smoothly.

Butter, some 2,000 years later finds itself again contributing to the smooth-running qualities of an institution. Dairy farming in Canada is dependent upon the production and consumption of butter being maintained at a high level. More than half of the nation's 399,000 dairy producers ship cream for butter processing. Per capita consumption of butter has fallen in recent years due to the introduction of cheaper substitutes. This has led to the false view that the price of butter is too high. In actual fact the cost of butter has not matched the price gains of most other commodities. Doctor H. H. Hannam, President of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture says: "Whereas in 1948 one hour's wage in industry would buy 1.3 pounds of butter, in 1958 one hour's wage would buy 2.4 pounds of butter." In the final analysis the consumer makes her choice between butter, which is a superior product, and substitutes, which are cheaper products.

The forests provide a third of all Canada's primary production.

LOW-INCOME FARMER HAD INDEPENDENCE UNDERMINED SAYS ECONOMIST

Technical changes have certainly made farming a more comfortable occupation but it appears that the financial benefits go mainly to the non-farm population. S. H. Lok, Canada Department of Agriculture economist, says.

It is understandable therefore that farmers and even university professors look upon technical research with mixed feelings. But to abandon research would conflict with humanitarianism at a time when there are many chronic hunger problems in the world, said Mr. Lok.

Solutions to the low income question are more likely to come from caution in purchasing expensive equipment and, on larger farms in using such innovations to the fullest extent, he thought.

Vertical integration is an approach to stabilizing farm income and is a move towards greater efficiency of operation. This method limits the farmer's independence in his role as manager and tends to hasten the evolution of the farm family way into a business corporation which, though it may still be a family affair, has a changed set of values.

Technical advances usually increase production and, when widely adopted, bring about a marked decline in prices through the whole of the agricultural industry. In private industry those who cannot keep pace are eliminated as an essential aspect of our economic system — witness the fate of the corner grocery — and this is the price paid for broader benefits.

Society supports those individuals whose state of welfare falls below a social minimum.

In agriculture adjustments take place slowly, partly because of the intervention of legislation to assist the farmer who, thereby, has his sense of independence undermined and does little to explore solutions to the low income problem.

Mr. Lok said economists were partly to blame for this attitude in that their well-meaning efforts on the farmer's behalf left him feeling that his low-income problem was inevitable — a case of historic determinism.

In some countries which have not succumbed to the dissection of the agricultural industry through vertical integration, integration has taken place from within the industry, through farm co-operatives, enabling the farmer to extend control over the economic resources to his own advantage.

"Interestingly enough," commented Mr. Lok, "in the country where farm co-operatives have been most successful, the farmers have managed to stay free of state support to a remarkable degree. There are many factors that account for the success of farm co-operatives in some countries and, by comparison, its failure on this continent; but it is safe to say that without consistent determination on the part of the farmers the co-op movement could not have become of any consequence anywhere."

M. Lok said when an attempt is made through state supports to bring the farmer's income into equity with the general level of the prosperity of the country "one stifles not only efficiency but also the value of independence. Redistributing income through price supports instead of direct payments to farmers may be further at the expense of efficiency. Again there is conflict between efficiency of large scale operations and the values associated with the smaller family farm."

The changes in the value structure of the farm population have been recognized as one of the most important problems of the next quarter century and material should be gathered to enable the ranking of these values in order of importance. That would be a project to be undertaken by several branches of learning. It would transcend economic theory as we presently know it and would achieve another step towards "unity of science."

Until such a project is accepted, Mr. Lok concluded, economists must be sensitive to the fact that material goods alone do not make for the fulfilment of the farmer's destiny.

BROWNVIEW HOLSTEINS AVERAGE $931.00 HERDSIRE TO QUINTE UNIT AT $12,000

The highest dispersal sale average of the year was realized as the Brownview Holstein herd of James T. Brown, Newcastle, Ontario, brought $74,000 for an average of $831 on $9 head. The sale was held November 18th at Oakville.

Highlight of the day was the bidding battle for Rosalie Heptad, three-year-old herdsire. With bids coming from all parts of the huge crowd that was present, the competition finally narrowed down to the Quinte District Cattle Breeding Association, of Belleville, Ontario, and R. R. Dennis, Oak Ridges, Ontario. Fred Hubbs, Bloomfield, Ont., made the final bid of $12,000 for the Quinte Unit. Heptad was the first Holstein bull sold at a Canadian auction guaranteed free of "the red factor" after proving this by breeding him to a group of red cows with none of the resulting offspring being red in colour.

Brian McCague, representing the Eastern, bought the top female, paying $3,500 for the bred heifer Browview Pabst Imogene. Edmund Peachey, of Malton, Ont., paid $2,500 for her six-year-old "Very Good" maternal sister, Browview Veeman Imogene. A year-old son of the latter, sired by the $12,000 Heptad, went to the Eastern Ontario Cattle Breeding Association at Kemptville, Ont., for $2,200. Another maternal sister of the $3,500 heifer went to D. W. Shively, Ontario, at $2,250.

Altogether, thirteen head sold for over $1,000, five of them exceeding the $2,000 mark. Twenty-one head were sold for export, these going to Mexico and the U.S.A. The big buyer of the new was W. J. Kent, of Bathurst, New Brunswick, who bought fifteen head for $7,110.

Five bulls averaged $3,093 each; forty-six milking females $740 each; eighteen bred heifers $790; eleven open yearlings $407 each; and nine heifer calves $386 each.

Other high prices included: $1,400 and $1,150 paid by Alfonso Soto, of Queretaro, Mexico; $1,400 and $1,375 paid by R. R. Dennis, Oak Ridges, Ont.; $1,000 paid by Harold E. Nickel, Gowansontown, Ont.; $1,375 paid by Rock Realty and Investment Limited, Queensville, Ont.; $1,500 paid by Allan F. Jones, Jamestown, N.Y.; $1,250 paid by H. W. Pringle, Napanee, Ont.; $950 paid by F. E. Davidson, of Como, Que.; $900, $875 and $700 paid by Wallace Button, Gore's Landing, Ont.; $825 paid by Robert C. Lanigan & Son, Waterford, Ont.; $750 paid by Juan de Alba, Mexico City; $825 paid by W. D. Shore, St. Thomas, Ont.; $600 paid by W. J. Kent, Bathurst, New Brunswick.

M. Lok said when an attempt is made through state supports to bring the farmer's income into equity with the general level of the prosperity of the country "one stifles not only efficiency but also the value of independence. Redistributing income through price supports instead of direct payments to farmers may be further at the expense of efficiency. Again there is conflict between efficiency of large scale operations and the values associated with the smaller family farm."

ASK THESE TWO QUESTIONS WHEN CULLING OUT COWS

Ontario Department of Agriculture Livestock specialists wish they had a magic formula for culling out unprofitable cows. It would make the job a lot easier.

They do suggest you ask yourself these two questions though:

Will it pay me to replace that cow with a higher producer?

Will it pay me to remove that cow without replacing her?

Most cows produce about half of their total lactation during the first 4 months. If you want to keep a cow at the break-even point of say, 300 pounds of butterfat, the cow must produce 150 pounds during her first

4 months of lactation. If she doesn't reach that break-even point,

The break-even point above is just an example. It's different in every herd and is a figure you get from calculating your costs against your milk cheque. Pick the one that best suits your herd and then ask yourself the two questions.

CONSERVATION NEWS

TREE SEEDLINGS AVAILABLE FOR 1960

The Department of Lands and Forests is again receiving a large number of applications and requests for tree seedlings. For those who have not yet placed their order for 1960, and for those who have been thinking about planting trees on their property and have not yet done anything about it, the following information will be helpful.

Any owner of land having an area of two or more acres, excluding that part occupied by buildings, may obtain nursery stock from the Department for reforestation or windbreak purposes. Most of the common tree species are available at the very reasonable rate of $10.00 per thousand. Scotch pine is slightly more expensive at $14.00 per thousand. Any number of seedlings can be purchased in units of 25 for each species.

Applications must be made on the prescribed form which is available at all Department offices. Reservations for nursery stock are made in the order that applications are received. As the demand for seedlings normally exceeds the available supply, it is wise to place your order as early as possible.

In addition to supplying nursery stock, the Department of Lands and Forests provides a free service of assistance and technical advice for landowners who may be interested in planting trees.

Further information and application forms can be obtained by writing now to the District Forester, Department of Lands and Forests, Tweed.

Important thing is to use water sparingly and keep the lining dry. Bags made of synthetics should wash well, though there is some danger of the lining shrinking. Beach toys, bathing caps and shoes of rubber are apt to stick together during storage. Wash and dry them well, then dust both inside and out with a fine coating of talcum powder before wrapping to store.

Starched cottons provide a real feast for silver fish, certain beetles and other pests. So wash these, dry thoroughly and then store unstacked. Be certain the clothes are bone dry before storing, since damp clothes mildew very quickly. Woolen bathing suits should be clean and sealed in tightly closed bags, to be safe from moths.

Milk Yield Studied

How much must a cow produce to show a reasonable profit for its owner?

Officials of the Canada Department of Agriculture have found the break-even point for a 20-cow herd, where the operator receives five per cent interest on his investment and $220 a month for labour, requires a production of 10,500 pounds per cow.

This was determined in a study involving herds at the Experimental Project Farms at Duncan, Nanaimo and Courtenay, B.C. The production figure arrived at was almost identical with the District Herd Improvement Association average for the province.

The interest, depreciation, and cash operating costs for a 20-cow herd would be about $8,500 a year and for a 35-cow herd about $15,000.

Income would have to be large enough to cover these costs and allow for family living.

St. Andrew's W.M.S.

The November meeting of St. Andrew's W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. Carl Bateman with Mrs. Duncan Montgomery and Mrs. Jim McIntosh as co-hostesses. The President, Mrs. B. Reid, expressed words of welcome to all and thanks to Mrs. Bateman. The opening hymn was "God of Our Fathers Known of Old," after which all observed two minutes silence in memory of the fallen heroes of World Wars I and II. All repeated the Lord's Prayer in unison.

The Scripture, taken from John 15, was read by Mrs. W. L. Anderson, Mrs. Vernon Matthews led in a prayer of thanks. Roll call was responded to by the members reading a verse on "Sacrifice."

Miss Gena Spy gave a report of the W.M.S. Rally held recently in Madoc. The December meeting is to be held in the Church with Mrs. H. Rollins as hostess.

After dealing with the business and correspondence Mrs. Duncan Montgomery took charge of the meeting. She left this thought with all:

"Oh weep not for the brave — not for the brave,
Who went in their high summer,
with the rose;
Age will not touch them — and with joy they gave

All for their dreams and faith, weep not for those!"

The hymn "O God Our Help in Ages Past," was sung, followed by stories of the work of missionaries in the church, namely: Miss Ida White, given by Mrs. E. Foster; Miss Pauline Brown, given by Mrs. G. Sarles; Miss Agnes Hislop, given by Mrs. H. McGee; Miss Beatrice Scott, given by Mrs. D. Fargey.

Mrs. Roy Eggleton gave a synopsis of the first chapter of the study book, "Africa Disturbed," written by Dr. and Mrs. Ross. She stated Africa has been disturbed for the country is forgetting their primitive ways and turning to more modern living. Schools and universities are being built and different industries are entering the country.

The meeting was closed by the members repeating the Mizpah Benediction.

A dainty lunch was served by the ladies in charge. Mrs. L. Dafoe moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Bateman and assistants; also to others who had helped with the meeting.

Bethel United Church Marks 85th Anniversary

Bethel United Church on the Rawdon Circuit held its 85th Anniversary and re-opening on Sunday, November 22nd.

There were old and new friends and many former church members in attendance. The edifice was filled to capacity with an overflow audience in the church hall, both morning and evening. A public address system loaned by Mr. Maurice Bell, carried the message to all.

Baskets of chrysanthemums and potted plants were used for decoration and the flowers in the two pedestal standards were placed in memory of the late Mr. and Mrs. C. U. Heath by their daughter, Mrs. Harold Elliott, and Mr. Elliott.

Guest Minister

The guest minister was the Rev. J. M. D. McLeod, B.A., of Marmora. His morning subject, "Past Imperfect," based on Joel 3: 21, "For God dwelleth in Zion." Joel describing a plague of grasshoppers that had destroyed everything applied to the situation of christianity. The church in the past has known dark ages. Remember, in personal or national distress, God sustains good triumphs over wrong in life of nations, the life of man that is attuned to God.

God will conquer evil — this is the message of scripture and the experience of man. An improvement in man's lot has been a very gradual thing; it has taken a long time, but it does come gradually. We have a part in this. Recognizing the imperfection of the past we are spurred on to greater service. There can come a "plague of locusts" again in our day. Forces of christianity may in our day find themselves aligned against the forces of Communism. To say we are Christians is not enough, the Light of God must be diffused through our lives.

Communion

Table Dedicated

At this service a Communion table was dedicated. It was donated in memory of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Morrison by their family. Mrs. Geo. Haggerty unveiled the table.

Special Music

Special music was arranged by Mrs. Harold Elliott, A.T.C.M., church pianist. The full choir sang "The Saviour's Voice is Calling," by W. R. Clarke.

The guest soloist, Mr. Grant Richardson, of Stirling, sang "Green Pastures," by Saunders. Miss Donald Heath and Mr. Richardson rendered a duet, "Drifting," by B. D. Ackey. In the morning Mrs. Elliott rendered "Open the Gates of the Temple," by Knapp; "Cavatina," by Stickles, and "March of the Pilgrims," by Peery.

EVENING SERVICE

At the evening service Rev. J. M. D. McLeod spoke on the subject, "Future Imperative," with 3 John 11 as his text. "Do not imitate evil but imitate good." Much of life is based on imitation. The child learns by imitation. Even much of the life of the church is imitative of others. We are called on to be imitative of good — that is, good as revealed in Jesus Christ, in our decisions, in what has top priority in our life, in what we say. In all we are to follow the way of Devotion of Jesus. Such is costly. It cost Jesus His life when He was still a young man, but it is the way the Christian must go.

The future of the church is in our hands. We are workers together with God. The future of the world is entirely in the hands of christian witnesses.

Doors Dedicated

During the service the two front doors were dedicated in memory of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Warren, which was a gift from their four sons. Walter assisted the minister with the dedication ceremony.

The clock on the wall was a gift from the Bethel Girls' Club and the Register Board a gift from the Sunday School.
